ST. LOUIS, Nov. 15.—Three airplanes which have been snaring ducks in the air with long nets fastened to the lower wing of the planes are being sought today by special game wardens armed with high-powered rifles, along the Missouri and Mississippi rivers near here.

The marauders were reported to State Game and Fish Commissioner Frank Weiland by a hunter who said he saw the planes in operation. One instance, it was said, only two out of a flock of thirty wild ducks escaped the net dangling from the swift-flying plane.

Weiland equipped several of his deputies with high-powered rifles and ordered them to shoot down the raiding planes.

$12,000 RAISED IN CAMPAIGN

Red Cross Quota Is Short $6,000 Now

First four of the 15 days schedule for the Red Cross campaign for the annual budget, which began yesterday, has resulted in $12,000 being subscribed in roll calls and sustaining membership responses, it was reported at headquarters last night.

Though the aim of the campaign committee was to raise the entire $18,000 this week, subscribing of two-thirds of the quota in four days was considered a worthy record, officials said. In reality the majority of the $12,000 raised was Thursday and Friday, as little work could be done during the Saturday rush, it was explained.

President W. A. Slater announced Saturday the drive could be taken up with renewed energy Monday morning and rushed forward as rapidly as possible. As next week will have several pay days, it is expected the $6,000 lacking on the budget will be reduced considerably when those who have made pledges receive their pay checks.

Those who have not been solicited are asked by the president to send in their enrollment or subscription to Red Cross headquarters and a button and receipt will be mailed at once. Slater said this will result in a great saving of time to committeemen who are giving freely their own time to the roll call.

"The drive will be continued until the quota is reached and we are hoping that it will be within the next few days, Slater said.

Socrates Orated A Mouthful When He Said 'Know Thyself'

In Port Arthur Parlor He Would Have Said 'Do You Know 'Em' If He'd Seen Movies in News Center

F. rates said, "Know Thyself." Someone else improved on the Grecian philosopher with "Know Your Stuff."

The question in Port Arthur this week will be, "Do You Know 'Em?" This refers to the business and professional celebrities who are daily seen wending their handsome selves down the business area.

The News "Do You Know 'Em' contest will be on in full swing at the Peoples theatre this week beginning Monday. Nothing but the backs of the heads of citizens who helped make Port Arthur America's fifth port and perfected in defiance of science a formula to mix oil with water, will be shown on the screen.

Sounds easy. It may be. Try it and see.

Three cash prizes, of $15, $10 and $5, will be given those who first recognize the necks and back cranial coverings of those shown in pictures on the screen.

Commander J. L. Dunn announces a large attendance is urged by the commander as nomination of officers is a matter in which all should participate.

POLICE SHAKEUP IS HINTED AT

"Get Gun Men" Is Order to Officers

GRAFT IS CHARGED

Judge Says Politics Blocks Law Enforcement

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Mayor Dever today decreed a war of extermination against the band of hired assassins whose smoking guns have drenched Chicago's streets with the blood of more than a score of persons within the last ten months.

"Get every gun carrier," was the mayor's manifesto. "Jail them or drive them out of town."

Chief of Police Collins has ordered a squad of plainclothesmen to danger districts with instructions to arrest all suspected gun toters.

The mayor hinted at a wholesale shakeup in the police department unless immediate results follow in the crusade against hired killers following the death of Dean O'Banion, beer baron, shot to death last Monday.

Judge Joseph David, Chicago municipal court, today announced a judicial investigation into the deadly gang feuds which have devastated Cook county.

Judge David charged that graft and politics have undermined law enforcement in Chicago.

Meanwhile bandits seized a total of $12,800 today in two payroll robberies. No trace of the principals had been located tonight.

MURDER PROBE PROVES FAILURE

Stokes Case Investigators Quits Trail

Solution to the mystery surrounding the murder of R. C. Stokes, Beaumont refinery foreman, Oct. 24, of which rumors were rife earlier in the week, was apparently knocked into a cocked hat Saturday when it became known that two investigators in charge of the case had left it without having unearthed a tangible clue.

It was disclosed also that the investigators, Pinkerton men of Houston, had been engaged by the 60th district court grand jury to probe the case, Beaumont officers admitted Saturday that they had very little information to lay before the grand jury.

It was reported that when the 60th court grand jury convenes in Beaumont Monday further probe of the Stokes case will be made. It was said also that the Houston investigators would appear before the grand jury and give a formal report of their work.

The 60th district court grand jury has but two more weeks work, since the term of court will dissolve Nov. 28.

The new grand jury of the 58th district court will be convened Dec. 4.

Slaying of Stokes is the sixth unsolved murder in Beaumont in little more than a year and a half. Stokes died of a shotgun wound received when an unknown assassin fired through a window while he was attending a radio concert at the home of Artie Pollock, deputy sheriff.

PAPERS DON'T AGREE ON OKLAHOMA'S SEX

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15.—Whether the State of Oklahoma is a "boy" or a "girl" seems undecided by local newspapers. Tomorrow is Oklahoma's seventeenth birthday.

The Oklahoma News termed the state a "flapper" in its birthday greeting, and the Daily Oklahoman announced it's some "boy."

Family of 11 Become Self-Supporting Through Red Cross

Through simple, effective means, without great expense, the Red Cross has salvaged a family of 11 and made them useful members of society. By helping them it has done a humane thing; it has relieved human suffering. Also it has placed the family on a self-supporting basis and relieved the community of certainty that otherwise they would become public charges. Simple? If the Red Cross had not done it, who would? There you have the answer to the reason for the Red Cross. It acts where others would fail to act. It succeeds where even unorganized good intentions fail.

Simple and inexpensive remedies and intelligent social welfare service given by Red Cross public health nurses and workers here brought a Port Arthur family with nine children up from dependents on the community to become self-supporting.

In a house lacking enough furniture for the barest comforts, this family was found by Red Cross workers. The father had contracted malaria and fever during months spent trapping in the marshes, trying to make a living for himself and his family.

Pale and weak from lack of proper diet, the entire family from the father and mother to the last of the nine children, ranging from babies to two lads large enough to work, were suffering from malnutrition and diseases which could be cured easily.

One of the first things the Red Cross nurses did was to point out to the mother that without additional cost she could balance the diet of the family by including green vegetables on her menus, and vary the meals of beans, potatoes and similar starchy foods. Medicine and medical treatment given the father and the sick children brought them around, and the man was given work that enabled him to make more money than had been possible for him before.

People Padlocked Their Wells Back In 1887

IT'S pretty dry now but back in '87 there was a drought so severe people padlocked on their wells and kept guards out to watch tanks and water holes to keep people from stealing the water.

This all happened in Texas and was recalled last night by J. M. Fox, well known peace officer and former ranger of Corpus Christi, this week visiting his son, Capt. Les Fox of the police department.

The elder Fox said he rode from Belton to Itasca by horseback and found water so scarce he couldn't get to Waco and Hillsboro before he could water his horse.

"People would have appreciated a flood, but it was nearly a year before the elements finally opened up and we had all the water we wanted," the ex-ranger related.

BRIDGE OPENS

Night Traffic Resumed Over Canal

Dredging work completed between the spans of the pier bridge, the bridge was opened to traffic Saturday after being closed nightly since October 29, S. W. Clarke, government engineer in the Sabine district, said Saturday night.

All dredging work in the Sabine-Neches canal from the Texas Company terminals to Bland's Bend, deepening the channel to 30 feet and widening to 125 foot bottom width, will be completed by Christmas, according to present indications, Clarke said. No contracts have been let for the sections above Bland's Bend and in the Neches and Sabine rivers to Beaumont and Orange.

Leonard Kip Rhinelander and His Wife of Month Seek Seclusion When Libel Threats Fall

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The pitiless glare of publicity was turned today upon the romance of young Leonard Kip Rhinelander, scion of one of New York's oldest and wealthiest families, and disclosed that his bride of a month is a daughter of a negro. Seeking seclusion somewhere, the young man and his bride had no answer to the exposure of official records by newspapers which they had threatened to sue because of statements that the new Mrs. Rhinelander was not a white woman.

Records at the Westchester county courthouse showed that George Jones, the father of Alice Beatrice Jones, Oct. 14, had applied for naturalization who married Leonard Rhinelander, papers in 1905, describing himself as a "colored man." A sister, Emily, described herself as "colored" in marrying a New Rochelle negro, nine years ago.

Mrs. Rhinelander gave her color as "white" when she and Leonard were married.

A succinct statement from Philip Rhinelander, society leader and father of Leonard, said he had not met "the young lady" but was advised she "was of English descent." Further than that the father refused to comment.

At the time of the marriage, young Rhinelander, who is 22, said his father "probably would disinherit him."

After several newspapers had declared the bride "colored," both she and Leonard threatened to start libel suits. She is three years older than her husband, records show, although she gave her age as 23 when obtaining the license.

Little Hope Held Out By Her Physician

MARION, Nov. 15.—After failing perceptibly throughout the day, Mrs. Warren G. Harding tonight was believed slowly slipping into a coma and fear was expressed at White Oaks Farm that she would not live out the night.

It was learned on good authority that Mrs. Harding's pulse is very weak and slow and Dr. Carl Sawyer's evening bulletin said she is "very exhausted and weak."

Dr. Sawyer's bulletin follows: "Mrs. Harding slept most of today. She has also taken a small amount of nourishment. But regardless of this, she is very weak and exhausted. She has failed perceptibly throughout the day."

PT. ARTHUR MEN FIGHT FOR ROAD

C. of C. Officials Leave to Argue Duff Case

To make what is believed will be the determining fight to decide whether Port Arthur will secure the Duff railway terminal, A. L. Burge, manager, and H. Y. Taylor, traffic head, of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, leave today for Washington where they will participate in the oral argument before the Interstate Commerce commission Nov. 24.

The Port Arthur chamber officials will be aided in the oral argument by Col. R. C. Duff of Houston, promoter of the proposed railway which the Kansas City Southern seeks to have barred from coming into Port Arthur for a terminal. Col. Duff will have with him two lawyers, his traffic expert and probably another assistant.

Burge and Taylor declared there was little question of the fate of the Duff railway so far as Port Arthur is concerned and probably of the rail project itself hinges on the oral argument.

Time Is Limited

The rail magnate and Port Arthur representatives must first overcome an adverse report submitted on September 8 by the finance examiner of the commission.

The finance examiner found against the Port Arthur contention and sustained the K. C. S. plea that another rail line terminating in Port Arthur would be a detriment.

Maroon and White Auto Licenses Displace Seals

The annual automobile license buying struggle is about to begin. More than 20,000 automobile license numbers for 1925 were received Saturday by Miss Ada Lockhart, county tax collector.

The new numbers are a decidedly attractive combination of maroon and white and are better made and more durable than any numbers that have been received for many years.

Motorists this year will not need to purchase seals. Last year the state highway department evolved the plan of using the old 1922 numbers, but of issuing new seals to motorists. No definite date for selling the licenses has been announced as yet by state officials.

To Ask Surveyor For Work On New Road

A recommendation for employing a surveyor to compile information on Jefferson county roads will be formally presented to the commissioners' court on Monday morning by H. M. Hargrove of Beaumont, chairman of the county road committee. A verbal recommendation was made to the court last Monday, but commissioners asked that the request be made in writing. It was indicated that the name of a surveyor to make the map and supply the committee with the information they need will be announced on Monday morning. The work will take approximately three months and when completed will give complete information on every road in the county.

THE AD-VISER

CITY NOT LIABLE IN EVERY CASE

State Law Intervenes, Re-hearing to Test Liability

Ruling of the ninth court of civil appeals in the A. B. Avery case, of Port Arthur, reversing and remanding the case to 60th district court, definitely eliminates the city of Port Arthur because of Texas statutes in force when the suit was originally filed several years ago against the city of Port Arthur and C. E. Dunstan, lessee of the Pleasure Pier.

Explanation to this effect was given Saturday night by Vernon J. Wistner, city attorney, on the appellate court's ruling in the damage suit for $25,000 filed against the city and Dunstan following the death of Miss Ruth Avery, 15, who was drowned in the ship canal in 1918 when an automobile in which she was riding was driven off the pier bridge into the ship channel. The suit alleged there were no lights on the bridge, and claimed the city and Dunstan were responsible for the accident, which occurred at night when the party of motorists were driving in from the pier.

By the ruling of the higher court, the city of Port Arthur cannot be held responsible because of the Texas statutes in force several years ago when the suit was filed, which held that a city cannot be made responsible for accidents resulting from negligence on the part of its agents or employees, Wistner said. The case was remanded by the 9th court to the 60th district court for a rehearing with reference to the liability of C. E. Dunstan.

No admission charge will be made for the lecture, and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to hear Randall.

It has been discovered that the mere application of a spoonful of powdered tartrate mixed with a spoonful of lemon juice, actually removes wrinkles and creases in fifteen minutes or less! There's no no-no here, and the expense is trifling—less than three cents! It is only necessary to spread the mixture over the face, sit down before the mirror, and watch those unsightly marks of age, illness or worry disappear like magic. The effect is incomparably better than that produced by the most skillful massaging.

The mixture of course is perfectly harmless. While on the face a pleasant soothing sensation is experienced. It is easily washed off. Aside from its remarkable effect on wrinkles, there's nothing better for baggy cheeks or chin. No woman who purchases a package of powdered tartrate from her druggist will regret having done so—Adv.

You Cannot Hide Your Fat

Overfatness is the one misfortune which you cannot hide from yourself or from those around you. If too thin, your dressmaker or tailor can supply the deficiencies, but the overfat carry a burden which cannot be concealed. There is one sure way to reduce your weight quickly and pleasantly—the famous Marmola Prescription. This prescription changes the fatty tissues and fat-producing foods to solid flesh and energy. It helps the general health and digestion; it permits you to eat substantial food. It leaves the skin clear and smooth. This famous prescription is now condensed into tablet form. Each tablet contains an exact dose of the same ingredients that made the original prescription capable of reducing the overfat body steadily and easily without the slightest ill effects. Take one tablet after each meal and at bedtime until the normal weight is reached and the bodily health completely restored. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets or send one dollar to the Marmola Company, General Motors Building, Detroit, Mich., and you will receive enough to start you well on the road to slenderness and happiness. Don't put off getting slenderness—this is your opportunity to make yourself attractive—so get a box and start to-day—Adv.

Chairman J. A. Glen, Beaumont, of the Industrial association requested at the meeting held at Beaumont Friday night when the project was launched, that the chamber unit heads make known the selection of their representatives at once.

OFFICERS NAMED BY MUSICIANS

Orchestra Changes Name to Pt. Arthur Symphony

Electing M. Blankfield as business manager, Miss Laurella Burnham as librarian and Mrs. Neal Rader, secretary, players in the Port Arthur Symphony orchestra formed a permanent organization at the rehearsal Friday night, officials said Saturday. The name of the orchestra which rehearses every Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the band room at the High school, also was changed, and the organization will be known in the future as the Port Arthur Symphony.

Frank W. Kerns, director and instructor of the public school orchestra here, is conductor of the Port Arthur Symphony. Membership is free to all musicians in the city who care to join, the only obligation being that of regular attendance at rehearsals. A special committee will be appointed to work out means for supporting the players to rehearsals in order to insure a number of musicians at each rehearsal.

Several new players attended the last rehearsal, and efforts are being made to have other musicians here affiliate with the Port Arthur Symphony. About 23 players were out for the last rehearsal, and at least 50 players in the orchestra by the next spring, when a public concert will be given, is the aim of officials. At the close of the rehearsal Friday night a picnic lunch was served.

Numbers put to rehearsal by Conductor Kerns include movements from Mozart's "Jupiter Symphony," Teichow's "Fifth Symphony," and orchestral arrangements of operatic selections.

Farley Management Opens 20 New Stores

LABEL VESSEL FOR $6,000

Damage Suit Filed Against Tanker Glove

Damage to the Royal Italian naval tanker Glove in collision with the American tanker M. F. Elliott in the Houston ship channel several days ago will amount to about $7,000, the Italian tanker is undergoing temporary repairs in a Galveston shipyard, Ernest Papich, representative of the Royal Italian navy in Port Arthur, said Saturday upon his return from Galveston where he has been looking after official business in connection with the Glove.

Owners of the M. F. Elliott have filed libel proceedings against the Glove alleging $50,000 damages to their vessel, Papich said. While the Glove is a Royal Italian naval ship, it is now being operated by the Italian Seamen's union as a merchant vessel. The Glove was loaded out cargo at the terminals of both the Gulf Refining company and the Texas Company a number of times, and is well known in this port.

George S. Davidson, president of the Gulf Refining company will be one of the principal speakers this week at Memphis, Tenn., where the Chamber of Commerce of the United States meets in annual session, it was learned here Saturday.

O. F. Wistner is now night short call officer for the police department, having been appointed by Police Chief W. W. Covington Saturday and beginning work at once.

Wistner will succeed C. L. Smith, the latter to join the plainclothes force and to work with Detective Rose, Covington said.

Gets Rootbeer and Pigeon From Bottle

Burning a newspaper by simply pointing with a wand was only one of the apparently supernatural features presented by the magician of the Rotund shows which last night opened for a two-day engagement at the Strand before a packed house.

The magician seemed to have an uncanny control of elements in the spiritual world. One of his acts was to have a young man smoke for awhile on an empty cob pipe and then, at the magician's signal, tantalizing screens of pure blend tobacco smoke emerged from the empty pipe. Getting tequila, coca-cola and rootbeer from the same container and the smashing it and showing that it contained a beautiful white pigeon was an act that kept the audience guessing.

Making a four-legged dining room table cavort about the stage like a young colt headed for a green oat field was another act which mystified the audience. A matinee for this afternoon and performance tonight are also scheduled.

WIFE NEVER SCOLDED HIM

Mrs. Dollar Helped Her Husband's Career

SAN RAFAEL, Calif., Nov. 15.—Converting a cottage or a palace into a home is easy for the efficient and conscientious housewife.

Much easier than the self-appointed task of Mrs. Robert Dollar of San Rafael, whose life work has been the making of transient homes for a husband who "commutes" around the world.

The husband is Captain Robert Dollar, head of the Dollar Line Steamship company, who is credited with doing more than any other man in developing trade between America and the Orient.

Staterooms of liners, Pullman car accommodations, hotel suites, they're all one to Mrs. Dollar. They've had to be, if she were to accomplish her purpose of keeping a happy home.

Since 1902 the couple have traveled 22 times to China, and have gone around the world twice. Their yearly average of travel is 30,000 miles.

Mrs. Dollar believes a wife should be a business partner to her husband in discussing new business enterprises. Then, too, which her husband is witness, she keeps herself in a buoyant frame of mind, free from moods and angry fits, undisturbed by reverses and unimpaired of discomfort.

"In the lumber camps I learned how much of himself a man must put into achievement of success. So I gave my husband the best of care, and kept myself well. I constantly kept myself cheerful and happy."

"Nor did I tell him when little things at home went wrong. I tried to be a buffer between him and home unpleasantness."

"I didn't scold him when he was late to dinner; I realized that over-concentration on work is not unnatural in a strong, ambitious man."

"True, my job seemed infinitely small as compared with his; but small as it was, it was never neglected."

This still continues. The captain never is bothered with travel arrangements, or the details of social and business entertaining, nor with home problems.

Mrs. Dollar has no particular hobby, except her support of an orphanage.

ONLY ONE DRINK OUT OF 100 IS SAFE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Of one hundred drinks taken by those who "cock" at the prohibition laws but one is genuine, according to Federal Prohibition Commissioner Roy A. Haynes.

"Less than one per cent of the more than 7,000,000 gallons of illicit liquors seized by federal agents during the last year was genuine," Haynes said. "We have examined over 90,000 samples."

The commissioner believes the samples are fairly representative of the kind of liquor now on the market because they represent seizures from every state.

$13,500 PAID YOUNG TEACHER FOR STORY

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Miss M. O'Connor, 24 years old, a Manhattan school teacher, was preparing today to do a little shopping, now that she has an unexpected $13,500 at her disposal.

She won that sum for her novel, "The Passionate Flight," which was one of the 1,500 submitted in a contest conducted by Curtis B. Brown Ltd., in behalf of a book publishing corporation, a magazine and a motion picture company. It was her first attempt at writing.

George and Harvey Miller were in a hospital here today suffering from injuries sustained in the attack.

CHICAGO PROPOSES TO STOP JAYWALKERS

CHICAGO, Ill., Nov. 15.—Police propose to arrest and fine "jaywalkers" the aim of certain legislation sponsored by the Chicago Safety commission, that will be pushed for passage at the next session of the legislature, according to St. Mayer, secretary of the commission.

Mayer's plan is fashioned after one proposed by Police Commissioner Enright of New York. Support of the automobile clubs is being lined up for the measure. Passage of such a measure would be a stroke in retaliation or mitigation of the police drives against speeders, the drivers organizations point out.

According to Mayer more than 90 per cent of the fatal automobile accidents in Chicago this year have resulted from jaywalking. "If pedestrians won't take care of themselves, the law will have to take care of them," Mayer said.

CORRECT TO THE LAST

AERIALS NOT A BOLT MENACE

Science Absolves the Radio Bugaboo

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Radio receiving antennas are no more menace from lightning than are wire clothes lines, metal gutters, down spouts or any other metal material connected with buildings.

This is the bugaboo of lightning from radio antennas given the final death stroke from no less an authoritative source than the department of commerce.

According to an announcement just issued from this department, antennas are not effective protection against lightning, yet they are so limited in size and extent that there should be no fear of their inviting fire from lightning.

"As commonly installed, they are of relative small size," the report continues, "both in extent and in the diameter of the wires used. If grounded, or provided with a lightning arrester, they may effect gradual drainage of electricity as well as a lightning rod, but a direct stroke is likely to fuse them or tear them from their fastenings on account of their small diameter."

Moreover, the ground lead of an antenna constitutes a lightning rod.

WOMAN PRISON BOARD MEMBER AGAINST LASH

AMARILLO, Texas, Nov. 15.—Arguments against the use of the lash on Texas prison farms were voiced by Mrs. J. E. King of San Antonio, chairman of the supervisory board of the Texas prison system, speaking before the closing session of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs here last night.

"I am opposed to such a practice, but as long as such a provision remains in the statutes, the board cannot prevent its usage," she told the federation.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94% AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 55 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent air and 6 per cent common kerosene (total oil).

The inventor, J. T. Johnson, 609 W. Lake St., Chicago, Ill., is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.—Ad.

WAR ROMANCE ENDS TRAGEDY

Shackleton's Backer Dies a Suicide

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The suicide here of John Q. Rowett, backer of the last Shackleton expedition to the South Pole, has ended one of the great financial romances of the war.

Rowett in 1914 was a dealer in rum in a fairly modest way. He wrote an order for six cases of it, a clerk in a wholesale office, misreading the order, made it six cargoes.

A month or two before the outbreak of the war, Rowett began to be deluged with rum. Thousands of cases came from all corners of the earth. Always a simple, straightforward man, Rowett threatened suicide rather than be thought dishonest when the bills came in.

Then the war started, Great Britain began raising an army that was to include altogether about 8,000,000 men. Regulations provided a daily ration of rum for each man. Rowett was the only man in the world who could furnish rum in sufficient quantities and he obtained contracts to supply both the army and navy throughout the war.

The deluge of rum began a deluge of gold, and Rowett emerged a multi-millionaire. He did not know what to do with the money. He made lavish gifts to all sorts of charities and employed universities. One day he met Sir Ernest Shackleton on the street. "You're Shackleton, aren't you?" Rowett asked. "I hear you want to go to the South Pole again."

Shackleton said he did. "I'll furnish the money," Rowett replied. It cost him $500,000. Shackleton died during his voyage. Rowett believed himself partly responsible. Sir John Stewart, great whisky dealer and a friend of Rowett's, shot himself, unable to meet liabilities of nearly $10,000,000. Of this he owed $500,000. Rowett thought this might have had something to do with the suicide.

Some investors went bad and Rowett became afraid that he might not be able to meet all his bills. His bankers assured him that he had plenty of money, but Rowett went home despondent, and was found in the library of his palatial home, hanging dead by a sash cord.

Though a verdict of suicide was returned, Rowett's doctor testified he was convinced Rowett was merely rehearsing a suicide in case he went bankrupt.

Organized Labor and the City Manager Plan

The City Manager Form of Government league has been organized pledged to the program of securing the city manager form of government for Port Arthur. Numbered in the charter membership list of those subscribing to the league's efforts are a representative of refinery employees and Port Arthur working men.

Opponents of the city manager plan are organizing to fight the installation of a city

WHAT LABOR THINKS OF THE CITY MANAGER PLAN

By W. G. LEE
President, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, Cleveland, Ohio

I have personally investigated how the city manager plan has worked out in Dayton. I have asked railroad men about it. I don't see how any working man can oppose the plan after investigating it.

I see nothing undemocratic in having the city manager selected by the commissioners. A city manager doesn't rule anybody. He doesn't pass any laws. He doesn't determine any public policies.

I'm for the city manager plan because it makes possible the elimination of politics from public business, and that means better government and lower taxes.

manager to succeed the present form of city government, comprising three commissioners, one of whom is mayor. The campaign promises to be informative. It should speedily determine the merits or demerits of the existing system as against that proposed.

Resolved into simple phraseology, the issues in the campaign to be waged by proponents and opponents of the city manager plan are these two:

- 1.—Is the political form of government under which Port Arthur is operating economical and efficient?
- 2.—Is the city manager form more economical and efficient in operation than the political form?

Labor, both organized and unorganized, will take keen interest in the campaign.

The labor vote, not only in Port Arthur but in the nation at large, has become a significant factor in municipal politics, particularly so when it enlists its compact body in a contest.

As such a force its position toward a change in the method of self-government is one of no mean import. Machine politics always count on it as one of the recognized legions. Some labor leaders and some of the rank and file have been fairly suspicious of any change from the time-honored political form of city government to the city manager form. They were familiar with the political form situation; the new differed so radically from the time-honored conception that it was looked upon askance, as something which promised something too good to be true and therefore could not be carried out.

"How would labor be treated under the city manager form?" "How would labor's rights be respected?"

These were among a few of the questions aroused. In many American cities notorious for their ward-heeling politics the labor vote often was sold outright for a mess of political pottage which benefitted only the leader controlling it. Change to the city manager form naturally was vigorously fought where these conditions prevailed, because it interfered with the political bosses' patronage.

Others, on the other hand, welcomed a change. Thoughtful labor leaders saw in the city manager plan an opportunity to dignify the functions of the unions, since it offered a cure for a condition which admitted of their being sold like groceries over the counter.

Labor has taken a profound interest in the political changes dealing with municipal reform occurring within the last few years. In Des Moines a labor leader became a commissioner. In Wichita, Kans., a railway switchman was elected to a similar position, as was a barber in Topeka. And the interest of labor has not been sporadic, as the number of labor candidates and labor men elected attest. It is encouraging that a class needing representation is interested and properly represented. It is an insurance of the democracy of our new institutions.

So it has been under the city manager plan. Dayton, O., proved the inherent democracy of the city manager plan by electing a union member to its body of commissioners. Dubuque, Ia., elected a union man commissioner. His election, as of the others, was significant in that it proved that labor had a greater voice under the manager plan than it did without it. It proved that the cry of opponents that the city manager form was an undemocratic institution, was a false cry, since exactly the reverse was emphasized and labor exercised a greater influence, not for bossism, but for its own welfare under the city manager form than it did without it.

In a broad and general way, organized labor identified in a movement for the city manager form has found that labor's problems are greatly similar in any American city.

This is indicated by the large number of American cities in which labor not only backed the city manager plan with its strength, but in several has taken the initiative and conducted and won the campaign for city manager form on its own accord.

The merits of the city plan are not confined to any particular city or group of cities. Each has its own individual problem of city administration of public affairs, but in a general way they are startlingly similar.

In Kalamazoo, Mich., labor supported the city manager plan and co-operated in drawing up the charter.

In Columbus, Ga., labor likewise supported the city manager plan and elected one of its own representatives to the commission.

In Dubuque, Ia., Dayton, O., Watertown, N. Y., Wheeling, W. Va., Bluefield, W. Va., and a score of other American cities labor has taken a prominent part in support of the city manager form of city government.

In New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Thirty-eight years ago W. W. Atterbury was a young upstart just out of Sheffield Scientific School of Yale university. He became a machinist apprentice in the shops of the Pennsylvania railroad at Altoona.

Being only 20 and looking no older, the men around the shop saw to it that he had plenty of work to do.

That was in 1886. In three years he was sent out as assistant road foreman of engines. Four years later and he was master mechanic at Fort Wayne, Ind. Three years there and he was appointed superintendent of motive power of the entire system.

In 1903 he became general manager of the lines east of Pittsburgh. Six years later he was fifth vice president. Changes came quickly after that until in 1912 his title became vice president in charge of operations. And next September, when President Rea automatically retired at 70, W. W. Atterbury becomes president.

Often when I pass through the great Pennsylvania station here, or look down upon the trains as they scud under the Hudson river I wonder if one of the mechanics I see, oily and grimy at his work, will some day climb up the trail Atterbury took.

John Keats, the poet, once wrote a rhymed letter to his brother, George. It was sold in New York this week for $3,000. It was part of the William Arnold collection.

Almost any day during the fall and winter you can find a sale of art and book collections going on in one of the Fifth avenue galleries. This seems to be the world's center of collection hobbyists.

It is a wild and exciting life, too, it seems. Arnold, now dead, once wrote a book called "Adventures in Book Collecting."

In his collections were originals or autographed copies by Lamb, Boswell, General Grant, Robert Burns and Dickens.

Officer 5923, on traffic duty at Broadway and 43rd street, stretched out both arms to warn pedestrians not to cross the street. A very pompous gentleman, with spats and cane, was just about to step off the curb. "Don't you touch me! Don't you dare touch me!" he screamed in a high voice. "I'll ring action against you if you dare lay a hand on me." The cop only smiled at him.

What's Going on In the World

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
News Staff Writer

America is on the eve of such a period of prosperity as the nation never has known before.

This is a consensus of the country's best business opinion everywhere. Stock market advances, beginning the very day after election, are regarded as marking a beginning of the boom.

Industrial expansion, many new enterprises, much building, thriving trade, high prices for farm products, a great demand for labor, plenty of money, are predicted confidently.

As commercial authorities see it, America has recovered completely from the post-war period of depression. Conditions in Europe are on the mend.

Worried

Anxiety concerning the late election has retarded prosperity hitherto. Capital could not gauge the strength of what is considered radicalism. It does not follow that there was any reason for capital's nervousness, but the fact remains that it was afraid.

Now it knows what to expect for the next four years and its uneasiness is removed.

The word everywhere is "Let's go!"

On His Own

Calvin Coolidge is getting ready to have a presidential term of his own, instead of merely winding up the unfinished term of another man.

It makes considerable difference. When a president dies the American people defy him immediately and his successor has to announce that he intends to go right on with the late executive's policies, because any change also would be looked on as sacrilege.

Consequently, if the new chief magistrate has any ideas of his own, he's unable to do anything with them. He must keep the same old advisers and assistants that his predecessor had. In every respect he's forced to stick to a course he had nothing to do with selecting and maybe doesn't like. But he's his own boss if he elected.

Reorganizing
President Coolidge is an entirely different type from the late President Harding.

He thinks differently. He acts and reacts differently. He works best with a wholly different sort of people from those President Harding had gathered around him and whom President Coolidge has had to keep about him heretofore.

Now Coolidge and Chairman Butler of the Republican National committee, secretary of the treasury Mellon, and Frank Stearns, who professes to have nothing to say about politics but who has a lot of political influence nevertheless, have their heads together concerning a reorganization of the government's executive personnel.

The prospect is that many strange faces will be seen in the more important Washington offices soon after March 4, 1925.

England

England's conservative government also is formally in office now—Premier Stanley Baldwin, cabinet and all. It is much the same sort of government that President Coolidge's new organization promises to be—a government of and for the business men.

Your Dreams

Dreams of collisions mean but one thing: you are about to face difficult problems which will end seriously for you unless you exert yourself.

Such dreams of caution must not be taken lightly. When such a vision comes to you, prepare yourself to meet the emergency and you will be protected.

Interpretations.
When you see a railroad engine puffing hard and hardly able to get underway, avoid all travel for the time being.

An empty purse indicates conditions for you at the time are not as bad as they will be.

To be running and stumbling is a warning to you to be cautious in all actions.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY
EL PASO, Nov. 15.—The American Federation of Labor will not support a new political party but will continue its non-partisan policy, it was learned tonight on the eve of the 44th annual convention here Monday.

The federation executive council, it was reliably reported, has instructed President Samuel Gompers to present a report to the convention, reaffirming emphatically labor's strict policy of non-partisanship.

With Books and Their Makers

"THE LAND OF COTTON" is a novel depicting life on the cotton farms of Texas. The author is a Texas woman, Dorothy Scarborough, of Waco and Baylor University, now teaching at Columbia University.

The hardships of the tenant farmer, the comforts of life on a big, prosperous plantation; the songs and the laughter of the negroes; the horrors of the chain gang; the opportunities offered a young man to work his way through college; the suffering caused by the drought and by the boll weevil; the terrible Brazos floods—all are pictured. Especially graphic is the account of the Brazos flood of 1913. Throughout the whole book is felt the power of King Cotton.

"Yet cotton is the master of them all, in spring as well as autumn, in winter as in summer. Yellow or white or black, all men in the south are slaves of cotton, subject to its power, prospering as those who fields flourish, and failing as they fail. King Cotton may be cruel or benignant, but he wields his mighty sceptre over the whole south."

With it all is mingled a sweet love story—of vivacious Rena, who stands for fair play and fights against cruelty; of unselfish, hardworking Ben, who falls a victim to Cotton; and of gentle Mr. Bob. One must admit, however, that the story is somewhat subordinated to the setting.

AT THE annual meeting of the American Library Association held at Saratoga Springs last July, Charles Bonvidman Hayes' "The Dark Frigate" was awarded the Newberry Medal as being the best juvenile book of the year. The Newberry Medal is the gift of Frederick G. Melcher, for three years chairman of the Children's Book Week committee; its object is to encourage the production of good books for children. It is named for John Newberry, an eighteenth century author who published in attractive form "Goody Two Shoes" and other books for children.

Mr. Hayes died July 23, a short while before "The Dark Frigate" was published and a year before it was awarded the Newberry Medal. Mrs. Hayes, however, was present at the meeting of the American Library association and received the medal in her husband's name.

"The Dark Frigate" is an adventure story of pirates and good men in the time of King Charles. It is, in the first place, a story which grips the reader's interest; the hero, a brave and good young lad, several times barely escapes losing his life. It is a book that despite all the bloodshed is morally sound, and yet the author never preaches. It is permeated with the savor of the sea and the atmosphere of the seventeenth century. Hayes loved the sea (therefore he loved the by-gone ages and spent much time searching out and reading old manuscripts).

The book will appeal to boys and girls in the early teens and to older people who still love a stirring and wholesome adventure story of the type of "Treasure Island."

"REJUVENATION and the Pro-Longation of Human Efficiency" is a book attracting much interest, following, as it does, Mrs. Atherton's popular novel "Black Oxen." The author is Paul Kammerer, who has collaborated with Dr. Steinhach of Vienna. It traces the history of attempts at rejuvenation; describes the results of Dr. Steinach's apparently successful experiments on animals; points out the various possible rejuvenation for human beings; and makes clear the greater difficulty in the rejuvenation for women and shows how the process used for them is entirely different from that used for men. It tells briefly of a number of cases of human rejuvenation from Dr. Steinach's clinic and from the clinic of Benjamin, the American doctor, and it considers the various changes that have been made against rejuvenation.

The reader is convinced that there is such a thing as rejuvenation but that it can not do all the extravagant things that Gertrude Atherton and the makers of jokes and cartoons would have it do. The book will be widely read because it handles a new and popular subject in a lucid manner.

JOSEPH HERGESHEIMER's latest book, "Balsam," has as its hero a hot-tempered Virginia planter who had fought under Washington and loved him ardently. Undoubtedly the novel presents a faithful picture of the Revolutionary War and it has a unique love story, but yet it is somewhat disappointing to one who has enjoyed "Jara Head" and "The Bright Shad" for it lacks the color and the dash that characterized these earlier works.

Keep yourself young and attractive. No husband can quarrel with a woman in a frilly apron and just the right touch of rose-color on either cheek.

To please a husband is like balancing yourself on a tight-rope. Henry VIII divorced Ann of Cleves because she was too homely and beheaded Ann Boleyn because she was too beautiful.

Dear Miss Grey: Somehow or other I am not happy. With my new friends. I know I am pretty, and I have nice clothes, but all the girls in my set have more invitations than I. What can I do to become more popular? G. S. C.

Have you tried being interesting? Do you make it a point to talk well? The type of girl all men prefer, really, is the one who is good fun and good company.

Miss Grey: Is very hot water or extremely cold water best for the face? BESSIE.

Neither. Tepid water about the same temperature as the skin itself is best, followed by a dash of cool rinse water.

Movie Exam Monday

One hundred questions will be asked in the examination to be given all moving picture machine operators under the recent provision of ordinance passed by the city council and which will be taken Monday at the city hall.

Forty of the questions are submitted by H. B. Paggi, city electrical inspector, 20 are on the list of J. B. Coo, city fire marshal, William LaBarthe, third member of the board of examiners appointed by the committee and a member of the movie operators union, has 40 questions on his list.

A WORD TO THE WIVES

Don't envy the woman with a career. There's not one of them who wouldn't gladly change her typewriter for your baby buggy or her law office for your kitchenette.

The only contented husband is the one who's in love. Make sure that it's you that your husband stays in love with.

Really all you need to do to be a successful wife is to smile like Mary Pickford, cook like Mrs. Roosevelt, save like Betty Grant, bring up the children like Mme. Montessori, make your own clothes like Lady Duff Gordon, wear them like Gloria Swanson and kiss like Nina Naldi.

Keep yourself young and attractive. No husband can quarrel with a woman in a frilly apron and just the right touch of rose-color on either cheek.

EASY LESSONS IN AUCTION BRIDGE

ARTICLE No. 4

Here's a hand that shows the value of clever bidding in obtaining the best bid for the combined hands. It's a perfect example of drawing quick and correct inferences from the bidding:

Y : A, K, Q, J, 4, 2
Z : K, J, 9, 7

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one diamond. A one heart and Y and B passed. Z now bid two diamonds. A two hearts and Y and B again passed. Z was now in a position where he could safely bid three diamonds but with no chance for game as his partner Y had refused to assist his bid. He therefore decided to bid two spades, knowing that if doubled he could bid three diamonds and that his partner would not assist the spade bid unless he had good spades. It is always dangerous to assist a partner's secondary bid, that is, one made on the second or subsequent rounds of bidding, without at least four cards of that suit. After Z bid two spades, A bid three hearts and Y, with queen, 10, 8, and 6 of hearts, properly bid three spades. This bid was justified because of Y's strong holding in the spade suit. B now bid four hearts and Z, having confidence in Y's assist, bid four spades and all passed. Needless to say, Y-Z made four spades, losing one heart, one club and one spade trick. This hand and Z's bidding are good examples of what can be done by good players in arriving at the best bid in the combined hands. Z's clever inferential bidding gave him a game not possible if he had continued to bid diamonds. It is on hands such as these that the expert has such a great advantage over the average player.

Many of the questions about auction that are submitted to the writer show conclusively that there are many points about the game that puzzle the average player. Some of these points are covered in the standard books on auction but the great majority are never even touched upon. One of the best ways of learning these facts before the readers of these articles is to publish every now and then questions of more or less general interest. Analysis of these questions will not only be interesting but also help to clear up a more or less general misunderstanding of the game.

Hearts—A, Q, 4
Clubs—J, 9, 8, 6, 3
Diamonds—None
Spades—10, 9, 8, 6, 5

Y : A, K, Q, J, 4, 2
Z : K, J, 9, 7

No score; Z dealt and bid one no-trump and A passed. What should Y bid with the foregoing hand? This hand was submitted only last week and shows that the two suit players who do not understand the necessity of overbidding their partner's no-trump with a two suit hand. Y should bid two spades and if his partner bids two no-trump, he should bid three clubs. Such a take out is obligatory and Y has no choice in the matter. A two suit hand is the strongest hand that can be held at auction and will generally average to win two more tricks at its best suit bid than at no-trump. Always overbid partner's no-trump with such a hand.

Answer to Problem No. 2

Hearts—J, 8, 4
Clubs—None
Diamonds—10
Spades—J, 9, 2

Y : A, K, Q, J, 4, 2
Z : K, J, 9, 7

Hearts—Q, 9, 7, 5
Clubs—Q, J, 10
Diamonds—None
Spades—None

Hearts—A, 6, 3, 2
Clubs—A, K, 10
Diamonds—None
Spades—None

If spades are trumps and Z is in the lead, how can Y-Z win all of the seven tricks against any defense? Z should lead the eight of clubs and trump it in Y's hand with the jack of spades. If Y should now lead the deuce of hearts, if B plays the ace, Z's hearts are set up so that Y-Z will win the balance of the tricks. B should, therefore, play a low heart and Z should play the queen. Z should now lead the queen of clubs and trump in Y's hand with the nine of spades. Y should now lead the eight of hearts and B must play a low heart for the same reason as before. Z should play the nine of hearts and lead the jack of clubs. Y should trump with the jack of spades and lead the four of hearts. B can now only win one trick, the ace of hearts so that Y-Z have won six of the seven tricks against the best defense.

Armed Guards Take 'Egan's Rats' to Pen

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 15.—The strong arm of the government has smashed the "Egan's Rats" gang which has terrorized St. Louis, South-eastern Illinois, and Eastern Missouri for more than a decade.

The leader of the gang, W. P. "Dinky" Cobek, prominent St. Louis river ward politician and eight of his lieutenants tonight were started on a long western journey—to the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas where tomorrow they will start serving 25 years' sentence for robbing and conspiring to rob the mails.

Cobek's gang, under his direction, held up the postmaster at Staunton, Illinois, in May, 1923, and robbed him of a $54,139 coat mine payroll.

They were bundled into a special Pullman loaded with deputies.

19 Million Shares

Handled On Exchange

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—When weary Wall Street brokers closed their offices this afternoon and left for the football game, they had handled more than 19,000,000 shares of stock on the "board" since the morning after election.

The market was rising up a bit in its mad rush upwards and less than a half million shares were traded in during the first hour. But business experts predicted a continued rise and further evidence of general prosperity long before the inevitable reaction sets in.

Prices were higher at the close, advances being achieved in an orderly fashion. Some Wall Street men believe the present period of prosperity is on its way to smash all records for volume of business done.

Heavy Snow Sweeps Over Two States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—An unusual large snowfall swept over Maryland and northern Virginia today, obliterating football, horse races and street car service.

The snow melted nearly as fast as it reached the ground and eventually merged into the same drizzling rain with which it began. The races at Pimlico were run with the weird snowstorm making it nearly impossible to see the horses on the back stretch. During the feature race of the day, the Pimlico, the horses occasionally were completely lost to sight.

President Coolidge, with Mrs. Coolidge had planned to make a week-end cruise on the Mayflower and the snow had failed to deter them.

Pittsburg Independents and Pirates Clash Today

Kansans to Weigh About 169 Pounds; Haven't Lost Tilt

BY BILL ARCHER
The News Sport Editor

Pirates	Position	Pittsburg	Weight

Peyoto	C	Lauey	175
Lackey	RT	Noll	170

LeBlanc	FB	Hill	160
Sandefur (C)	QB	(C) Dunbar	148
Kelly	HL	Engle	150
Elam	RL	Conrad	154

ADD 'em up for yourselves, fellows, and see whether they do or not, but according to the figures on our adding machine, this Pittsburgh gang, that rode into town yesterday average 169 pounds. And that's just about a par for the Pirates. But they've got three years of experience and teamwork behind them that the Pirates haven't got, and they've an unbroken string of victories chalked up for them this season to add to that of the past three seasons as well. And that means quite a bit when you take into consideration that the Pirates haven't played so very many games this year, and have enjoyed but one real stiff encounter — that lamentable 0-6-0 game with the Hurricanes.

Pittsburg has brought the pride of the Kansas City Southern railway company here today. Pittsburg has sent her battling gridsters over 700 miles to play an independent club on the latter's home territory. Pittsburg is confident. Perhaps Pittsburg knows her stuff, the final quarter, when it has ended, can only tell that.

Anyway, fellows, there is no question about it. There's to be a real gridiron classic out there on Pleasure Pier this afternoon at 3 o'clock when the Pirates and Pittsburg meet, and the Pirates must fight hard to win over the visitors if they come up to any part of the reputation they have heretofore in advance of their own advent in our midst.

But the Pirates have Penn Sandefur, Nick Elam, Peveto, Country Kelly back in the ground gaining division today — and that's exactly the same lineup that carried the Pirates plunkin' to glory in days gone by for an unbroken string of victories.

Pirates Have Trained
Long hours of hard drilling, dummy tackling, blocking, practice on the aerial and signal work has put the Pirates in better condition than they've been in this year. Last evening on Lakeshore Diamond, the Pirates were running signals until darkness fell over the field and halted their training, and their leaders pronounced them fit as the proverbial fiddle and ready for the fray.

It will be noted from the weights of the Pittsburgh boys carried in the probable lineup of today's game that the visitors have a heavy boy on left end and a much lighter line in comparison on the right wing. This probably means a bunch of smashing drives through the left wing, although this lefty fellow in question just may happen to be a clever end and put there to hold down the post.

Pittsburg has an uncanny passer — a boy who averages around 43 yards. And that probably means an aerial attack. If they've got anybody who can catch them, the Pirates may have a lively time today.

Don't forget the time and the place, and that the Pirates need your support.

It was the professionals' sixteenth straight win on their present tour, lacking but one victory of tying the record of consecutive wins by Hagen and Kirkwood.

City League Opens First Half Of Titular Basketball Race

They're talking basketball now. And soon the curtain will be raised on the first half of the City Basketball League, recently organized, which will be formally opened with a schedule carrying five fast amateur teams up to December 10.

No admission for the game will be charged, while the league will conduct its contests twice each week on Monday nights at the high school and on Friday nights at Franklin gymnasium. A set of rules has been adopted by the organization, and were given out last night as follows:

"The following rules shall govern the City Basketball League for the season 1924-25, subject to change at any time upon the request of a majority of the managers of the five teams composing the league.

"The league shall be under the direct supervision of the president.

"All disputes arising shall be settled by the majority vote of the managers of the teams, except as otherwise specified herein.

"No team shall have more than two players on the floor at the same time who are members of this season's Texas Company or Gulf company teams. Any team can play two players from the Texas Company team, or two players from the Gulf company team, or one from each team, but not more than two from the both teams at the same time.

"The season shall be split, the first part starting November 17th and ending December 10th. Club standing will be based on the percentage basis. The present schedule calls for each team to play eight games during the first half. Winners of the first half will meet the winners of the second half, the number of games to decide the championship to be determined at that time.

"All teams that are scheduled to play first each evening must start their game not later than 7:10 p. m. This is necessary in order to abide by the ruling of the school board that all persons must be out of the building at 9 p. m.

"There shall be two games each evening, and it is optional with the managers of the teams playing whether the first game shall be completed before starting the second game.

"Any team forfeiting more than one game shall upon the request of the managers of the other teams withdraw from the league, and any team willing to accept the standing of the team withdrawing be allowed to finish the season in place of the team forfeiting more than one game.

"Any player shall be disqualified from playing in any games for unsportsmanlike conduct, upon the majority vote of the managers.

"No player can change from one team to another, except by the unanimous consent of all the managers.

MARLEY, BERRY, SLOVER SHINE

By ARTHUR W. STOWE
Fort Worth Record Staff.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 15.—Battered into complete submission by the powerful plunging of Captain Jim Marley, Texas Christian University's sorely buffeted Horned Frogs lost their fourth consecutive conference game at Clark Field Saturday to the Orange warriors of Texas University. The final score was 13 to 0 in favor of Texas University.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the Christians. Appearing for the last time this season on home loam, Crippled so badly that their offensive was practically nil, while the stalwart line that dealt much misery to the Oklahoma Aggies and the S. M. U. Mustangs was shot to pieces, the Frogs put up one of the most valiant fights ever witnessed in Fort Worth.

Only one earned first down was made by the Frogs during the day against 11 for Texas, but that difference does not begin to show the strenuous fight the manpower-hampered Christians put up. From the first whistle to the final gun that ended the fray, the Christians were desperately smashing through, trying to hold the powerful charges of Marley, Slover, Wright, and finally a veteran lineman, L. K. Berry, shifted to the backfield.

For two periods, the second and third, the Frogs were able to stave off the straight line bucking attack of the Texans, but in the fourth period Captain Marley started a series of tackle brushes and center rushes that netted five successive first downs and a touchdown. Wright added the point after touchdown with a perfect placement. The final score was made in the fourth period after the Frogs' battered line had stiffened for two periods in the pinches and forced the Texans to resort to passes.

Taking a short pass from Blise Smith, Stud Wright dashed to the side lines and paced down the boundary line for a 35-yard gain and a touchdown. The try for point was missed by Staller. These 13 points represented the sum total of the scoring for the day.

T. C. U. offensive, with Cantrell on the side lines, for three periods and Homer Adams out of the game for more than half the playing time, simply was ineffectual to cope with the powerful forwards of the Orange and White. Thus after time Christian plays were smeared on the line of scrimmage, or back of the line. Several times when Clarke opened up a forlorn passing attack in the fourth period, the Frogs quarterback was downed for 10 to 15-yard losses.

This desperate aerial game opened by the Christians in the final period was responsible for the only earned first down of the day, credited to the Purple. Roach, substituting for Nicholson, found an open spot in midfield, with Clark passing, and snatched a pass for a 30-yard gain. Three Frogs sprang up from nowhere, anywhere, somewhere, and formed a perfect interference for Roach, but after running 15 yards, the youngster stumbled and fell and was covered by Slover before he could get up.

With the exception of this play, the Frogs never endangered the Texas goal line; had Roach been able to keep his feet, nothing could have stopped him from crossing the final line for the points that would have put the Frogs on even terms with the Texans. The next play was an interception, and shortly after that, Wright suggested the pass that resulted in Texas' second score of the game.

In the eyes of Texas supporters, Captain Marley, Wright, Slover and Berry were the outstanding stars of the day. Marley and Berry were never successfully stopped by the Frogs, while Wright and Slover played a beautiful game on the defensive.

By VIN BURKE
BEAUMONT, Texas, Nov. 15.—

South Park failed to boot a goal after touchdown here this afternoon and the Rice Owlets nosed them out, 7 and 6.

Schroeder's successful kick after the Owlets had scored gave the Rice Freshmen their victory, Rice scoring early in the game after Braden, the South Park quarterback, had fumbled a punt on his own 10-yard line, the ball being recovered by the Owlets.

A series of line plunges carried the ball over for Rice.

Following the kickoff after this score, South Park carried the fight to the visitors, forcing them back against their own goal. After two of these occasions, Rice held with the ball in their own territory, on the 19-yard line.

Near the middle of the second period, Rice punted from midfield, Tatum returning the punt 29 yards to his own 40-yard line. A long pass, Braden to Kinnear, gained 22 yards and on the next play, Braden again passed to Kinnear, who raced the remaining 12 yards for a touchdown.

Throughout the second half the ball was carried from goal to goal with both teams threatening to score repeatedly. Two fumbles probably prevented touchdowns.

The Rice Freshmen presented their famous triple lateral pass, working the play four times for an average gain of 11 yards each trip.

Herting, giant halfback of the Freshmen, displayed much talent and promises well for the varsity backfield next year.

Cummings, another back, also worked well for Rice.

Laminack and Tatum rolled up numerous short gains through the Rice line, while Braden proved himself an excellent passer throughout.

Still At It Here

IT'S NOT cold here yet, in fact, it hasn't even rained in months, as you well know, but the point we're trying to make is the fact that the weather is just right for tennis, and that's the summer game that is still in favor among a few fans in Port Arthur.

Yesterday afternoon, like several other afternoons this month, four enthusiasts of the game were out on the courts at the American Legion club house grounds, and were indulging in a couple of the snappiest singles contests you ever saw.

FORM REVERSAL WILL CONTINUE

With each Saturday football reversal of forms continue to pile up.

Probably no season in the history of the gridiron sport has witnessed so many dope upsets.

There is every reason to believe that such a condition will continue until the close of the season. So don't be surprised at anything that may happen.

Three outstanding upsets of the games of November 9 were Princeton's rout of Harvard, Chicago's tie with Illinois and Rutgers' overwhelming defeat of Lafayette.

There were other surprises, such as Pennsylvania's failure to do better than a 3-0 win over Georgetown, Syracuse's 7-3 defeat by West Virginia Wesleyan and Washington's tie with California.

However, the first three were the big thrillers of the day.

All of which proves there is no longer doing the open style of play. No longer does the best team invariably win in football. The breaks usually decide the outcome, often sending the stronger team to defeat.

15 Left In Race

AUSTIN.—Fifteen Class A high school teams remain undefeated in the 1924 gridiron race at the present time, and of this number seven will be eliminated before Tuesday night of next week. The final limit set for determining the district championship was originally November 15, but certain upsets in the running various districts have made necessary games on Monday and Tuesday.

Sports Editor, Dallas Journal.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 15.—Baylor University's Golden Bears became moral champions of the Southwestern Conference Saturday in the big Fair Park bowl before 16,000 persons when it battled from behind to a 7-7 tie. Baylor thus has defeated Arkansas and Texas A. & M. and tied S. M. U., a team which could not break even with the Razorbacks and Aggies.

S. M. U. took the jump as anticipated in the first period and scored a touchdown, but Baylor came back a few moments later although it was the second period and scored. Both extra points were kicked.

Hubert Walling of the Mustangs scored the first touchdown when he broke off right tackle for 43 yards, placed the ball on Baylor's 4-yard line and on the next play carried it over himself. A short exchange of kicks followed and the period ended with the ball in Baylor's possession.

Here Coates completed a long pass from Strickland, making a sensational catch and the ball was on the S. M. U. 2-yard line. Two plunges netted but a part and Coates went over right tackle on a tackle-around-play for the touchdown. On this play, Bedford, the great Mustang end, broke the sweeping interference. Coates traveled behind, but missed his tackle.

The touchdown was evidently all Baylor wanted and it settled to a defensive game, depending upon the toe of Captain Pittman to keep it from danger. Pittman rose to the occasion nobly, getting away with the longest and fastest kicks of the season. He eventually outkicked Reisor of S. M. U. Out of the play this afternoon there arose two stars who will go down in history as marvelously great. Sam Coates for Baylor and Bedford for S. M. U. Coates was the Baylor team for two periods. He stopped all plays in his line, he scored the touchdown, he completed the pass which resulted in the score, in short he performed everything well. Bedford rose to the heights too, but his fine play was more or less dimmed by Coates.

Golf Makes Big Strides at Country Club Past Week

George Bliss, Newman Among New Players

GOLF is coming into its own in Port Arthur, and its repeated gains in popularity at the Country club course is proving the game to be one of the most interesting in the sport annals of this city.

This isn't the wild fumes of smoke from a pipe dream. It's a "lowdown" on the facts from observations.

Last Week Busy One

Last week saw one of the biggest turnouts for golf at the Country club that that organization has enjoyed in "many moons," to use the language of the day, and there were golf "bugs," golf "fans," and golf "sharks" dotting the Country Club links from hole to hole.

Several twosomes and foursomes featured the week's play, while Thursday and Saturday proved the most popular days for players turning out.

"Doc" Poinexter, Frank Imhoff, Harry May and Pro Rob Evans furnished one of the interesting four-somes during the week, they having played a round Thursday afternoon. Poinexter made an 82, with 41 out and 41 in. Imhoff shot 84, May only played nine holes, and turned in for 45, while Pro Evans shot 79. A high wind out the averages of these men down and made many of their shots bad, but nevertheless, they turned in some of the best cards made during the week. Their scores for Thursday follow:

Player	Out	In	Total
Poinexter	41	41	82
Evans	38	41	79
Imhoff	47	42	89
May	45

Another interesting foursome Friday afternoon was played when Henry Mills, Dick Sheeks, Jimmy Day and Julius Deuster played 18 holes. Deuster was a newcomer among the golf players, but shot a fair card despite the fact when he turned in a 92 and 84. Mills got on hand late and only played 9 holes. Scores turned in for this foursome included the following:

Player	Out	In	Total
Mills	49
Sheeks	51	46	97
Day	57	50	107
Deuster	62	64	126

Julius Deuster wasn't the only newcomer on the links during the week, however. There was Newman, who began the game early in the week and who has turned into a "bug," and there were also several ladies who turned out to play.

George N. Bliss is turning out for golf at the Club also, and is showing considerable interest in the game, while "Doc" Vaughan is running him a close second in interest manifested. Ladies turning out.

Five ladies turned out Thursday, and were out early yesterday morning for instructions. The professional has been given charge of the caddies, and will give them some instructions in their work, while arrangements are going forward in the matter of fixing a maximum caddy fee.

Among other cards turned in the past week were the following:

Player	Out	In	Total
Smith	48	42	90
Wignall	48	42	90
Moffatt	48	44	92
Dorchester	45	45	90
Painton	47	44	91
McCord	51	40	91
Davis	51	48	99
Stenderon	48	50	98
Bliss	52	56	108
Stoneburner	58	61	119

Clarence Eklund, the boy with the uncanny feet, is coming to town next week.

At least that is what the promoters in charge here declare. Mr. Eklund, as it will be recalled, is the 45-year-old lad that carries the light-heavyweight belt gathered close around his "perfect 56," but who will Monday, Nov. 24, hang it up in Elks theatre for a while to repose on a peg while he and Mr. Tony Bernardi, of "Gas House" fame, argue over the point of which shall wear it home after the mill.

Tony is getting in tip-top shape, and to condition himself better for the mill, he has added to his strenuous training in the evening a few afternoons out on Lakeshore Diamond at football with the Port Arthur Pirates. Tony will probably get a chance to shine his wares this afternoon with the Pirates against Pittsburgh, at a tackling post.

Bernardi, last Monday, was hitting the scales at 187, but has agreed, according to the articles of the match November 24th, to scrap Eklund at the 175 limit. If Tony fails to make the weight, he will face Eklund wrestling for the proverbial song, which in the jargon of the profession simply means that Tony will forfeit his portion of the gate receipts.

Tickets for the mill went on sale yesterday at Johnny Bourne's barber shop and J. D. Bryan's tailor shop, and the indications are that a good house will turn out to greet the champion on his return here.

Rumor has it that George Actor, the purple-robed Greek ace, may meet the winner.

THE NUT CRACKER

Jackson: So this is Paris! McGraw: Now, you poor rascal, this is a moving set for the Battle of Shiloh. They got you can expect David Wark Griffith here any minute now.

Gowdy: Well, how'd you boys like the Latin Quarters? Felly: So far, as I'm concerned they can keep 'em. And them French, too. I never could savvy foreign money anyhow.

Jennings (giving Rodin's masterpiece, The Thinker, the up and down): You don't know what I'm thinking about, but if you're a baseball man, he'd be trying to figure whether to pitch high or low to Ruth.

Young: Where do they get this stuff about the French being eccentric? Frisch: Well, don't forget they thought Carpenter could beat Dempsey.

Pfeleisch: Aw, this town's the bunk. I taxed five miles to see some Apache Indians and they weren't nothing but hard-boiled bums that needed a shave.

Guide: And to your left, gentles, is the greatest of 'em all, Notre Dame! Falk: Brother, you read a page full, but don't let anybody tell you, too. I never could give 'em a battle.

Cvengros (ordering his third cream de menthe): What I can't understand is why you guys have all these statues of Napoleon III. There was only one Napoleon.

Waiter in his best Cedar Rapids French: Whaddamean, there's only one Napoleon? Cvengros: Why, Napoleon Lafayette, now there was a bird who could hit all kinds of pitching and—

Ruel: I think I'd go down to the Louvre and see Mona Lisa. Clancy: Well, if she's anything like those French Janes I saw at Maxine's last night, I wouldn't walk across the street to see her balance a ship's anchor on her left eyebrow.

Guide (passing historical square): And right here on this very spot King Louis XVI got his head sawed off. Falk: Bet anything the girl was one of those dizzy blonds from Zelig's.

BOB CURLEY UPSETS GAME WITH A BOOT

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The golden toe of young Bob Curley probably booted Chicago to the Western Conference football championship here today.

While Illinois went down to defeat before Minnesota, Robert for the second time this season in the final minutes of play brought "home the bacon" with a drop kick that gave his team a 3 to 0 victory over Northwestern.

With the score tied four minutes before the final whistle blew, Curley kicked the winner and only score of the game. Ralph Baker, Northwestern star half, missed a similar kick just a few minutes before.

Meet Disastrous Defeat
LULING.—The Luling high school junior football team met disastrous defeat at Lockhart, by the score of 37 to 0. Outweighed at least 10 pounds to the man, and facing a faster team, the locals were completely outclassed from the start and it was just a question of how much they could hold the score down.

Overwhelm Washington
COLUMBIA, Mo.—Missouri University's Tigers overwhelmed Washington University of St. Louis here today, scoring five touchdowns to pile up a 35 to 0 victory that much to wipe out the bitter memory of Washington's unexpected victory last year.

Tulsa After Burns
GLOVESVILLE, N. Y.—George Burns, released by the Cincinnati Reds, said at his home here today that he had received an offer to become manager of the Tulsa, Okla., club. He said he would consider this offer and some others that have been made to him.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Though fed sugar in an attempt to increase their physical energy during the game with Pennsylvania recently, Yale's soccer team failed to respond sufficiently to defeat the visitors, who won, five goals to one.

Tunney Not So Anxious to Scrap

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Tommy Gibbons is ready to fight Gene Tunney for the light heavyweight championship of America.

Gibbons, a day before the fight with Georges Carpentier, at Michigan City last summer, told interviewers Tunney was ducking him.

"Why should Tunney go around kidding the folks that he is ready to battle Jack Dempsey? Why does he not stay in his class? He's a light heavyweight. So am I, though I am forced to go out of my division to get bouts. I have repeatedly tried to get a fight with Tunney but he will have none of my game."

When this interview was called to Tunney's attention the light heavyweight champion said it was untrue and that he was ready to take on Gibbons any time an interesting proposition was presented.

Now Tex Rickard comes out with a statement backing up Gibbons. "I have tried to match Gibbons with Tunney but he refuses the match," says the New York promoter. "I think Gibbons and Tunney would put up a worth-while fight. Gibbons is willing and has been for months. Tunney, however, does not seem to want to take a chance with his title against the St. Paul man."

DICK KERR IS SEEKING BERTH

The career of Pitcher Dick Kerr stands out as a tragedy in major league baseball.

Back in 1919 Dick Kerr was a member of the Chicago White Sox, American League pennant winners. His fine pitching helped win the title.

In the world series of that year with Cincinnati, the pitching of Kerr was the one bright spot in the play of the Chicago White Sox.

Kerr won two games in the 1919 event, despite the efforts of some of his teammates to throw them away. His courageous pitching added the flavor of competition to the event. Otherwise it would have been a rout.

The next spring Kerr, believing that his work merited a substantial raise, asked for it. He didn't get it. So the pitcher, whom major league baseball, the American League in particular, owed much, was allowed to drift to the outlaws over the matter of a few paltry dollars.

Kerr has applied for reinstatement and is sure Judge Landis will grant it. He then hopes to hook on with some big league club.

The little southpaw is still the property of the White Sox but is as emphatic as ever against playing with that club.

Yoakum Gets Revenge

YOKUM.—The Yokum High school football squad obtained revenge from the Victoria team for a defeat at Victoria early in the season when they defeated the visitors 7 to 0, in a game here. At the end of the first half the score was Yokum 7, Victoria 0. Voigt played a splendid game for Victoria.

The game that was to have been the most desperately fought of all the eastern season turned into a riot, with only Princeton grit and the stout hearts of Roper's men to thank for the fact that the score was not twice as large.

Throughout the afternoon, Yale was constantly threatening to score, with Princeton desperately hanging on, and never within range of the Blue line.

Finally the Bulldog slipped the chain that had held him fast for 30 minutes, broke loose in the third period and tore two large pieces of hide from the body of the Tiger.

The first break came after a punt by Jake Slagle. Bunnell, the Yale quarterback, ran the ball back to Princeton's 40-yard line where Princeton rallied and held for three downs.

On the fourth down, Harry Scott, a Yale sub halfback, booted a perfect 48 yard drop kick and gave Yale the first score. Bunnell provided the break that paved the way for the second Yale score late in the third period.

Late in the fourth period, after Scott had failed on three attempts for a goal, Princeton was held on downs after four forward passes had failed. Yale rushed the ball 20 yards to Princeton's five-yard line and was ready for another touchdown when the whistle ended the game.

DICK KERR IS SEEKING BERTH

The career of Pitcher Dick Kerr stands out as a tragedy in major league baseball.

Back in 1919 Dick Kerr was a member of the Chicago White Sox, American League pennant winners. His fine pitching helped win the title.

In the world series of that year with Cincinnati, the pitching of Kerr was the one bright spot in the play of the Chicago White Sox.

Kerr won two games in the 1919 event, despite the efforts of some of his teammates to throw them away. His courageous pitching added the flavor of competition to the event. Otherwise it would have been a rout.

MURSDAY TO BE PT. ARTHUR DAY Large Crowd Expected at Fair That Date

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Nov. 15.—Fair officials decided at a late hour Saturday to open the gates of the South-east Texas fair grounds here over Sunday. The fair grounds were closed last year but officials were of the opinion that many persons would be able to visit the fair on Sunday when it would not be convenient for them to come at any other time. None of the concessions or shows will be open, however.

With ideal weather, the attendance so far is much better than that of a year ago. More than twice the number of people who attended the fair a year ago entered the gates on the opening day and the attendance the second day was more than eight times what it was a year ago.

Children Get Passes. Saturday was designated as Children's day. Every school child in Jefferson county was given a pass to the fair today, and every teacher was given a season complimentary pass. Shows on the midway operated with reduced prices for children.

One feature that is attracting a deal of attention is the manner in which traffic is being taken care of. Under the efficient management of George Roark, vehicles are kept moving and there is a decided improvement over the parking regulations of last year. Traffic officers have been stationed at corners for several blocks in each direction from the grounds and automobiles are kept moving in one direction.

The ticket sale is being handled through the Y. M. B. L. Members offered their services and more than 40 men are being used each night to sell and take up tickets at the gates.

Farmers Are Interested. The fair has probably drawn a crowd from a greater territory than ever before. Fair officials distributed advertising all over East Texas and Western Louisiana with the result that many more exhibits from surrounding counties have been entered this year than ever before. Farmers have shown particular interest in the agricultural exhibits which have been collected from all parts of the state.

A dairy exhibition which has 400 square feet of floor space, has proved a great attraction to dairy farmers. Thursday has been designated as Port Arthur day and a great crowd is expected. Officials declare that Thursday is ordinarily one of the best days of the week. No special program has been set for the day.

No further awards have been made in any department. Judges will name prize winners in other departments the early part of next week.

SUES RAILROAD FOR $35,000

Mrs. Reva Sudds Asks Sum For Husband's Death

BEAUMONT, Nov. 15.—One of the largest damage suits ever filed against a railroad here was that of Mrs. Reva Sudds against the Beaumont, Sour Lake and Western railroad which was entered on the 55th district court docket today. Mrs. Sudds is asking for $35,000, alleging that her husband was killed through negligence of the railroad.

The accident occurred in January of the year when Josh Sudds, deceased husband of the plaintiff, was employed by the railroad. He died of injuries sustained after a boiler explosion. Mrs. Sudds alleges that the boiler was old, unsafe, out of repair and in a defective condition. The explosion occurred near Westburg, Texas, and Sudds' body was blown more than 250 feet from the engine. He was 42 years of age at the time.

O'BRYAN PEACE BOND CASE POSTPONED. Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Nov. 15.—Hearing on the $2500 peace bond in the O'Bryan case from Port Neches was postponed this morning since O'Bryan did not have a lawyer. Following his arrest on a charge of an attack on his estranged wife, Mrs. Rachael O'Bryan, an indictment was returned by the grand jury charging him with assault to murder. Another peace bond in the sum of $2500 was set by Justice of the Peace H. H. Reeves. Mrs. O'Bryan, together with a number of witnesses were in the 55th court this morning, but were dismissed when it was announced that O'Bryan did not have a lawyer to represent him and would not appear.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE IS HELD O. K. Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Nov. 15.—Trustees of the China school district were advised the past week by the attorney general that it would not be necessary to vote the $50,000 bonds to erect a new school there.

A bond election in the China district was held more than a year ago. Following some disagreement among the voters in that locality, the school was not built. Another election was to have been held Nov. 4, but there was some misunderstandings as to whether the old bond issue would hold over, and voters were not asked to pass on the question.

When asked to make a ruling Attorney General Keeling advised trustees the original bonds voted there would be sold. Arrangements are now being made to sell the bonds and advertise for bids on a new school.

Juries Are Drawn For Criminal Cases

BEAUMONT, Nov. 15.—Juries were drawn for three weeks of criminal cases to be heard during the month of December by Judge C. N. Ellis, county court at law, today. Approximately 225 cases have been set for an order and with the exception of Christmas week, Judge Ellis will devote the entire month to his criminal docket.

Particular attention will be given to the appeal cases from the local justice courts. Both H. H. Reeves and Thomas Brown of the local justice courts were defeated for reelection and the new judges will take office the first of the year. Judge Ellis is particularly anxious to dispose of all justice cases and have them taken from the records when the new officers take office.

Both the 55th and 60th district courts will have juries for cases on Monday morning. Criminal cases originally set for the first of November in the 55th court were carried over by Judge O'Brien. Hearing will depend on whether or not the witnesses are available.

Three jury cases have been set in the 60th court by Judge J. D. Campbell. The first to be called is that of the Nederland Independent School district against John W. Scott. The second is that of Sol Gordon vs. L. Cohen and the third Nathan Hall against the Travelers Insurance Co.

Arrangements for the intensive, community-wide life saving and first aid program to grow out of the class meeting at the high school were made in Port Arthur by Mrs. Cecelia Deubig, of Washington, D. C., national Red Cross official in the life saving service, and local officials recently.

Two hours and a half have been allotted to each side in the oral argument. Col. Duff probably will consume an hour of the allotment speaking for his own line. His attorney and Taylor will speak 45 minutes each. The limited remainder of the time will be used for rebuttal.

They Are Hopeful. Col. Duff and the Port Arthur officials have prepared their case well and have arranged arguments, exhibits and citations to present them in the clearest possible form in the two hours and a half to be accorded them.

The Port Arthur officials and Col. Duff expressed optimism on leaving for the scene of the fray, which is conceded to have a great bearing on the future of the Sabine district. Knowing the odds are against them, the case for Port Arthur has been prepared by its representatives carefully and with not a tinge of over-confidence, the chamber heads said.

Thompson also has held official positions, and has been actively identified in the unions here throughout the 15 years he has made Port Arthur his home.

Scouting With the Boy Scouts

Construction work on a scout hut for the members of troop 6 will be started within the next two weeks on a lot on Thomas boulevard, George county, scoutmaster of the troop, told the boys at their last meeting. The Scouts will assist in the building of the hut, and one of the features of the equipment will be a radio receiving set.

Two of the Scout Troops, 14 and 17, staged winter roasts at Bland's Bend during the past week, and Troop 13 put on a game of hares and hounds as a feature of their meeting. New members to a number of the scout troops and the Sea Scout ship Buccaneer were reported taken in at the meetings during the week.

Reports of the various scout activities, furnished by the scribes of the troops, are as follows:

Troop 13

There were 16 present at the regular meeting of the Troop 13 of the South Methodist church, Friday at 7 p. m. We drilled for 20 minutes and then played hares and the hounds. Patrol 2 were the hare for the first time and Patrol 1 was the hares the hounds could not catch Alvin Bradsbury and Martin Cox. Then we played punch. After a few games we went upstairs for refreshments. The troop was dismissed at 9:45 p. m. Remember that all day from troops 11 and 13 are to bring as much money as possible to the next meeting to be used for the poor.

RALPH CARLISLE,
Senior Patrol Leader.

Troop 6

Troop 6 held their regular weekly meeting at the K. C. Hall at 7:30 p. m. last Friday. Eleven members were present. We had three candidates. They were Charles Dempsey, Malcolm Daspl and William McGorry.

We started our business meeting with plenty of pep. Two boys were nominated for senior patrol leader, S. J. Stansbury and Raymond Quebedeaux. S. J. Stansbury won 10 to 7. The three patrols are as follows: Patrol 1, Tom Beadle, patrol leader; Elroy Quebedeaux, Roy Pitrie, Edwin Miller, Malcolm Daspl and Frank Hardelik. Patrol 2, Adam Rodriguez, patrol leader, Edward Stiehl, William McGorry and Chas. Dempsey. Patrol 3, Raymond Quebedeaux, patrol leader, Rodney Quebedeaux and Georges Asher. The three patrols are going to try and see who will bring in the most boys to the troop. Capt. Sculley told us that we would start building our scout hut about two weeks from now. It will be built on Thomas boulevard. One carpenter is going to be hired to work on the hut but at the same time he will tell the scout helpers what to do. Captain Sculley told us about the radio set we were going to have in the hut and it will be equipped with loud speaker so everyone can listen in. Mr. Jackowicz gave the troop a big desk and we will keep all of our records in it. All patrol leaders were told to come out to the filling station where they will be given pledge cards. The idea is to obtain funds sufficient enough to ward the erection of our hut.

At the Armistice Day parade Troop 6 turned out 100 per cent strong. We won the right to use the Franklin gym and pool next Wednesday night account of turning out such a good bunch. We have invited Troop 16 to share the evening with us and we expect to have a dandy time. Skipper Roy Rusling paid the troop a visit with another member of the Seascouts. Several games were played. A dime race was won by Rodney Quebedeaux. A cracker eating race was won by Patrol 3. Swat the Fly was played. Adam Rodriguez was found to be the champion knot tying boy of the troop.

All scouts who do not wear their uniforms at the next meeting will be obliged to run through the belt line. The meeting was closed with the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

LAWRENCE MOREAU,
Scribe.

Troop 14

We met at the Congregational church at 7 p. m. and went out to the end of Procter street and had a winter roast. There were 15 boys present. After we had eaten about a dozen weiners apiece we had a tug of war and played some games. We then elected two patrol leaders, Leonard Claxton and Hampton and then the boys went to their various patrols. Leonard names his patrol the Flying Eagle and Hampton named his the wolf. Mr. Raup and Mr. Steck gave us some good suggestions and we discussed plans for the future.

We had a laughing contest between the patrols and a talking contest between Jesse Farmer and Leonard Claxton. We closed our party by singing songs. We hope that all of the boys will turn out for the meeting next Friday and bring others who wish to join the troop. We were certainly glad to have Mr. Raup and Mr. Steck along.

EMANUEL FARMER,
Scribe.

Troop 11

We held our regular meeting Friday night. Roll was called. A pretty good attendance was recorded. The patrols were formed in the different corners and were told to pick out their boys for the games. We discussed about getting some tents. Two more boys earned their Tenderfoot badges. We also had two new candidates. There was a party at the church and everyone was invited. Everyone of us enjoyed it. We learned some new songs. We hope to be able to get our troop running straight by the first of the year and fix upon definite activities.

Theron McComber,
Scribe.

We held our regular meeting Friday at 7:30 p. m. After the color ceremony was over we had roll call and collected dues. The attendance was 19. Two visitors, Mr. E. Martin and Mr. Harding. After roll call Mr. Martin was introduced to the boys and he gave us a general talk and demonstration in signaling. Mr. Martin is an officer in the English navy and is quite an expert in signaling. Accuracy, position and speed were the principal stresses he laid upon signaling. We certainly enjoyed Mr. Martin's interest shown and thank him most graciously. The meeting for the next week was discussed. Scoutmaster Clements appointed five boys to go and cut grass at the American Legion club house. It will undoubtedly be appreciated by the members and probably save the place from the danger of fire. The boys were also told to report to the church Monday evening in order to move chairs from the church. These have been rented and the money will go into our troop treasury. Some members from troop 6 paid us a visit and invited us to share the Franklin gym and pool with them this coming Wednesday 7 to 9 p. m. We certainly do thank them for the invitation and we will be right there. Our troop football team is to play the Port Arthur News team and will be about the first hard game we have had this season. So far we have won 11 of the games we have played. Just before the meeting was closed we ran all the new members through the belt line. Everybody be sure to show up Monday after school and don't forget Franklin gym Wednesday night.

J. C. WATKINS,
Scribe.

Troop 17

Instead of having a business meeting last Monday we held a winter roast at Bland's Bend. The food arrived a short time after the Scouts arrived. Dozens of buns and twelve pounds of weiners were used.

Stevens Dugas was a new member who attended the roast and seemed to enjoy all the proceedings of it. Special effort is being made toward scout advancement and everyone is expected to pass at least one test at the next meeting.

After the fire was well started weiners were brought out and roasted but the appetites of the Scouts seemed to be poor this time compared with previous ones. Certainly this is history for on no other occasion have the boys ever gotten enough to eat.

JAMES BOLLINGER,
Scribe.

Troop 18

BUCCANEER SEA SCOUTS
We met aboard the big ship Friday night. Our new skipper was with us. Eleven members and two visitors were present. We had a few members voted into the troop at this meeting who was none other than Harry Dunlop. The Scout Oath was said in unison and our regular business meeting followed. A committee was appointed to draw up the new by-laws for the ship and a number of other important things were planned for the meeting next week. It was decided to change the meeting night to Tuesday but we will not meet on Tuesdays until our meeting is held the next Friday. Mr. Gwin gave us some signalling. We expect to get our ship well organized shortly and it is up to every member to bring a new recruit to the next meeting. Let's go.

EARL FRIEDMAN,
Yeoman.

BARBER USES MOWER

MANCHESTER, Eng., Nov. 15.—The strangest razor in the history of the tonsorial art is in the possession of John Rogers, a Manchester barber. It is a combination of blades, made up into the form of a miniature lawn-mower, which Rogers uses on the faces of his more heavily whiskered customers. He charges an extra fee for use of the "mower."

COLLIN POOR FARM WILL BE INVESTIGATED

M'KINNEY, Nov. 15.—Harry C. Evans, editor of the Yeomen Shield, of Des Moines, Ia., and chairman of a committee appointed by congress to investigate conditions on poor farms of the country, addressed the Lions club at the weekly noon lunchcon held at First Methodist church. Mr. Evans argued that poor farms should be abolished and county wards placed in state institutions for support.

Conditions in Texas are better than in most of the states, he said, but are bad enough here.

President Walton of the Lions club will appoint a committee to visit the Collin county poor farm and report its condition.

TAX COLLECTIONS ARE NOT BARRED

AUSTIN, Nov. 15.—Suits for the collection of delinquent taxes assessed upon or against real property by an independent school district that have remained due and unpaid since December 31, 1908, and to foreclose the lien on such land to secure the payment, are not barred by any of the limitation statutes of Texas, the attorney general ruled today.

Pre-Nuptial Affairs And Weddings Continue To Hold Society's Interest

JACK FROST'S visit to Port Arthur this year has been delayed, but that fact does not seem to have made very much difference to Port Arthur society, which is taking the situation philosophically and has set out to impress the said Jack Frost with the fact that he no longer holds sway over fall fashions and winter apparel.

Society folk have adopted the theory that everything is in the mind and the outgrowth of it is that if one is sufficiently psychic one can change a balmy afternoon into a winter one, merely by donning a fur coat and attempting to shiver.

After all the days are growing cooler even if they are warm in the middle of the afternoon, and from all reports Port Arthur society is going to have a very lively winter season. There have been a number of weddings, although the social activities have as a general rule been confined to informal affairs, bridge parties and luncheons, interspersed with the usual number of club meetings.

Pre-nuptial affairs such as showers, bridge parties for pretty bride-elects and delightful announcement parties have enlivened the past few weeks, and the coming weeks promise to witness just as many more. Two wedding this week have been of especial interest to society, that of Miss Grace Thompson and Mr. Votaw Harrison on Thursday evening at the First M. E. church, south, and that of Miss Gladys McGinnis and Mr. Thomas B. Holmes of Beaumont which takes place today. The ceremony will be performed this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Christian church, with Rev. R. Yelderman reading the impressive service.

There will be no attendants and only relatives of the young couple will witness the ceremony. Miss McGinnis' wedding costume will be an attractive traveling frock of black, with smart hat and accessories in harmony. Miss McGinnis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. McGinnis of Merced, Ill., but has been making her home in Port Arthur the past six years with her sister, Mrs. Shirley McDonald. She is employed in the Gulf company office. Mr. Holmes formerly lived in Port Arthur but has been employed at the Wilson Hardware company in Beaumont some time. Mr. Holmes and his bride will leave after the ceremony for San Francisco and will make their home in California.

The wedding has been preceded by a number of charming showers and entertainments, the past week witnessing several of these delightful affairs.

Mrs. E. G. Ruffner, director of the choir of the First Methodist Episcopal church, announced the following musical selections for the services today: At the morning session a male quartet composed of Messrs. At the evening service Miss Ethel King will sing, "Peace Be Unto You," by Charles P. Scott.

"Guest Day" Observed At Goodwin Home

Mrs. H. K. Goodwin's attractive home was opened Thursday afternoon for the observance of guest day by the Home Missionary society of the First Episcopal church. The home was adorned with blossoms of the season, in graceful clusters about the rooms.

Mrs. C. R. Robinson conducted the devotional service, following which Mrs. C. W. Rodgers told an interesting story of the slogan, "One Foreign Born Friend," which has been adopted by the Missionary society. Misses Hattie and Bessie Reese entertained the guests with violin and whistling numbers, following which Miss Lois Rodgers sang a charming solo. The surprise feature of the afternoon was the piano duet by Mrs. L. L. LeMaster and Mrs. C. W. Rodgers, Mrs. A. B. Cramer, Mrs. E. J. Smith and Mrs. Fred Hendon dramatized a short playlet dealing with foreign work in Kansas City.

At the business session the women voted to bring to next month's meeting their gifts of linen, money, or books for the Basil Home for Girls at Basil, La., which is being supported by the Methodist church. At the social hour tea and sandwiches were served with Mrs. H. K. Goodwin, Mrs. W. P. Park, Mrs. L. L. Drake and Mrs. W. P. Park pouring tea. Assisting in the dining room were the hostesses, Mrs. E. W. Rensland, Mrs. F. L. Wallace, Mrs. J. Whelpley, and Mrs. H. K. Goodwin.

Mrs. Preston Is Tendered Novel Shower

Among the pleasing affairs of the past week was the novel shower tendered Mrs. H. O. Preston for her little son, Master Edwards Harrell Preston, Thursday evening at her home, 3345 Proctor street, by Mrs. H. T. Chandler and a number of the girls of the Texas Company Terminal office.

The shower was presented in clever manner, the guests being attired in costumes to represent various members of a large family. The shower also proved a delightful surprise to Mrs. Preston, who was at first bewildered at her strange callers during the evening. Miss Alma Garrett, attired as a doctor with his black satchel, and Mrs. Pete Engle as the nurse, were the first to arrive and without waiting to tell Mrs. Preston the reason for their call went immediately to Master Edwards Harrell's crib and began making notes of his condition. After finding him to be quite well, the doctor then proceeded to the front entrance and requested the remainder of the family to come in, "if for only a few moments." It was at this moment that Mrs. Preston realized who her callers were, the girls with whom she is intimately associated at the Terminal. Greater still was her surprise when the doctor again opened the door and let in two tiny girls, Eva Butler and Hattie Reese, attired as babies and carrying a prettily decorated basket, which they presented to Mrs. Preston. Upon opening the packages in the basket she found many lovely gifts for little Edwards Harrell. Dainty refreshments were served.

Those enjoying the shower were Mrs. R. Bujard, Miss Ora Gossett, Mrs. C. W. Smalling, Miss Alma Garrett, Miss Eva Butler, Miss Hattie Reese, Miss Blanche Fisher, Mrs. A. R. Jones, Miss Gladys Garrett, Miss Adele Black, Miss Maude Gayle, Mrs. Clara Valverde, Miss Edna Ellsworth, Mrs. John Ludwig, Mrs. R. K. O'Neill, Mrs. C. M. S. O'Neill, Miss Edith Hartman, Mrs. G. B. Taylor, Mrs. G. Winn, Miss Marian Trahan, Mrs. Ida Griffin, Mrs. H. T. Chandler, Miss Wee Wee Griffin, Mrs. Henry C. Garrett, Mrs. H. H. Chandler, Mrs. Pete M. Engle, Mrs. Ben Kutcher, little Miss Gwendolyn O'Neill, Master Edwards Harrell Preston, and Mrs. H. O. Preston.

Miss Grace Thompson And Mr. Votaw Harrison Wed Here in Simple Ceremony

Among the outstanding affairs of the week and one of especial interest to society was the wedding of Miss Grace Thompson and Mr. Votaw Harrison, which was solemnized last evening at 7:30 o'clock at the First M. E. church, south, with Dr. V. A. Godbey reading the impressive service.

The church was attractively decorated for the pretty wedding, the decorations, however, being confined mainly to the altar where lovely autumn blossoms were arranged with artistic effect to form a pretty background for the ceremony.

The wedding music was given by Mrs. C. L. Bonner, who played Mendelssohn's Wedding March with violin obligato by Mrs. Neal Rader, and by Mrs. J. E. Singletary, who sang the bridal solo, "I Love You."

The bride, gowned in a lovely frock of gray crepe rouaige, with smart hat and accessories in harmony, was given in marriage by her brother, F. H. Thompson of Rosedale. The bridegroom was given her attractive costume by arm cluster of exquisite pink rose buds. The only attendant was the bride's niece, little Maxine Watler, who served as the little flower girl. She was adorable in a frock of peach taffeta.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Watler, with thirty guests included in the personnel. A lovely refreshment course was served with the beautiful wedding cake. During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Harrison left for a brief wedding tour of Houston and other Texas points. They will return the latter part of the month and will be at home at 1549 Eighth street.

Miss Latimer Complimented With Shower

Miss Leonora Latimer, attractive bride-elect of this month, whose marriage to Mr. Leslie Harold Lee will take place on Thanksgiving Day, is being complimented with a series of delightful pre-nuptial parties, one of the loveliest, perhaps, being the miscellaneous shower Thursday evening which had as hostess Mrs. H. C. Crawford at her home in the Model addition.

A pretty feature of the party and suggesting the approaching happy event was the heart motif, displayed in all details of the hospitality. Red hearts were used in profusion and the game of hearts gave diversion during the evening. Table covers reflected the chosen theme and the mint cups and gifts favored from the bottom of the tables of players enjoyed the games in which Mrs. J. C. Hamilton was awarded the high score favor and Mrs. McMullen of Beaumont the low score prize.

The shower was presented to the bride-elect in a novel manner. A wishing well, decorated with moss and hearts and guarded on either side by a miniature bride and groom, was ranged in the dining room. Attached to the top of the well was a rustic bucket and when Miss Latimer pulled the bucket from the bottom of the well she found many lovely gifts reposing therein. A salad course was served during the later hours of the evening.

Enjoying the shower in addition to Miss Latimer were Misses Ann Welch, Reba Holmes, Addie Dismukes, Frances Canada, Ethel King, and Constance Johnson, Mrs. Ethel Caldwell, Mrs. Ernest Brinkman, Mrs. C. E. Boaz, Jr., Mrs. J. E. Singletary, Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, Mrs. J. C. Bendixen, Mrs. J. D. Thompson, Mrs. Earl Borden, Mrs. Robert Latimer, Mrs. Kate Latimer, Mrs. H. A. James, Mrs. Charles Perry, Mrs. W. D. F. Rhinehart, Mrs. Ted Lee, and Mrs. McMullen of Beaumont, Mrs. Lee, Mrs. L. A. Glickler, Mrs. C. H. Gunthorpe, Jr., Mrs. O. M. The Parrish home was decorated with a profusion of shaggy chrysanthemums. Five hundred gave diversion during the afternoon hours, three tables of players enjoying the games. Mrs. Theo. Gentil received the first prize and the second favor fell to Mrs. N. F. Mire, while Mrs. E. C. Kuhlman out consolation. A dainty refreshment course was offered after the games.

3. What are the principal characteristics of the old waltz?
4. Describe the modern waltz.
5. Give a short sketch of the life of Weber.
6. Why is the "Invitation to the Dance" of particular importance?
7. What established Gounod's reputation and tell something of his life.

A little group of serious music students gathered Thursday at Miss Van Tye's studio for their first competitive recital. Two selections were played by each, honors being awarded for the best performance. Miss Van Tye, who is a graduate of the Holland conservatory and trained in different branches of music, explained the nature of each piece and gave a short life sketch of the composer, thus making the recital interesting and instructive. Among those present were Mary Virginia Benton, Daisy Ferris, Mary Feehan, Helen Hanneman, Ruth McFarland, Lantana Ronshausen and Gloria Mae Swearingen.

grimly; and though he had been fond of the dog he was glad, for a moment, to crush his wife with her fault. "You were so busy picking on me when we went out you never noticed you hadn't let him in again, and so he waited there five hours, and froze to death—while you were having such a grand time with Corbett!"

"Henry!" she cried, and now her startled eyes were streaming indeed. "I don't know which of us let him out—I just remember seeing him go out—and then we both forgot him—but it's I that killed him! I gave him that bath, and he was shivering when he came to me and tried to comfort me, here in the hall, and that was just a little while before we opened the door and let him out. We—"

"We?" Beesley echoed, fiercely.

"We! I tell you I didn't—"

"O, what does it matter to Shanty?" she sobbed. "I killed him when I gave him that bath and didn't have sense enough to take a little care of him afterward. I did it! I did it!" She threw herself upon her knees and began to caress the wet and shaggy head of the little figure of tragedy lying before her. "O, Shanty dear, dearest!" she sobbed. "You were so kind to me! Who I have now to spend the long days with me when your master's in town and I'm all alone here? You were such a darling, patient companion! You loved me—you know you did, Shanty! And I let you die for it! I did! I did! I did—"

She sobbed on until she felt her husband's hand upon her shoulder. "Get up from there," he said harshly. "You're making a fool of yourself. You didn't hurt the dog! I don't remember any more than just seeing him go out, myself. We didn't either of us let him out. We just opened the door, and he went out. It's not your fault; it just happened; and that's all there is to it!"

"It is my fault!"

"It isn't," he said angrily. "It is not!"

"Shut up!" he cried. "Quit talking like such a pinhead! It's no more your fault than it's the man in the moon's!" He choked, and his eyes were watery—not because of his cold. "You make me tired! The trouble with you is you're too soft hearted! Quit blaming yourself for everything!"

Weeping heartbrokenly she rose, put her arms about him and clung to him. "O, I do make such horrible mistakes," she sobbed.

"Well, I guess plenty of us do that," he said, trying to growl, but smiling instead, as he looked down over her shoulder at the stiffened form on the hooked rug. "Probably Shanty didn't freeze to death anyhow. Moren' likely he picked up a dog button or a piece of meat with arsenic in it, or something."

As it happened, though, neither of them ever knew it, this was the correct diagnosis, and a veterinarian would have told them so. But their error was better for them than the truth, and Shanty's mistake had its singular value in their destiny, for it carried them over the climax of their anguished adjustment to one another. They did not understand this, or even note it, either then or later; but with the passing of the little peacemaker came the passing of their worst quarrel. Never again did they hate each other quite as they had hated each other that night.

"Instincts as Found in Employment"—Mrs. A. A. Gunter.

"The Balance Between Instinct and Intelligence"—Mrs. M. D. Carter.

Wide Appeal Made By Newest Records

Fritz Kreisler's bow can plumb the depths of human feeling and this week he chooses to don a sadder mien. "Slavonic Lament" and "Dirge of the North" are sombre, though colorful, numbers, with a vigorous sobriety traditional regions that lie toward the polar star.

John McCormack counters with two promises of spring—two charming love melodies to brighten dull days. "When" is impetuous and swift, reflecting the ardent lover, while "Bridal Dawn" is more ecstatic with lovely voice and violin counterplay. Sir Joseph Barnby, composer of "Sweet and Low" and some of the finest English religious music, is the author of the anthem "King all Glorious" which Trinity Choir records this week. It is a splendid record both as to subject and as a model of ensemble singing.

The three Brox Sisters carot on a pair of records this week "Mammy" stuff and heart throbs abound in "The Sweetest Little Rose in Tennessee" and "Nobody Loves You Like I Do," waltz and fox-trot, respectively and variably.

Wendell Hall and Carson Robison disport themselves in two compositions by themselves, waltzes with whistled effects and some close vocal harmonies. "Lonely Lane" has the assistance of a violin and a piano, while "Swanee River Dreams" has the further support of a guitar.

Victor Salon Orchestra plays two charming concert waltzes. "Aloha Sunset Land" is obviously Hawaiian, while its companion, "Chanson Bohemienne" (Sweet Dreams of Thee), is an equally soft and sumptuous record.

The trend of the program is somewhat dreamy in character. International Novelty orchestra records this week, two dramatic waltzes, feelingly and skillfully. "Dreamer of Dreams" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" represent a high degree of artistry, the latter with a vocal refrain introducing a phrase from Bartlett's "Dream."

The Bensons, of Chicago, are safely in the fox trot column with "Some Other Day, Some Other Girl" and "My Rose Marie" light and graceful with open orchestration.

From the source of "blues" come two Cerulean fox trots by the Original Memphis Five, with the slow, rolling rhythm of the only and the genuine blues. You have undoubtedly heard "How Come You Do Me Like You Do?" but hear it on this new record. "Meanest Blues" certainly reveals a lot of bottled up venom.

Woman Sheriff Is 'Six-Gun' Expert

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 15.—Missouri's only woman sheriff can handle her six-shooter like a trooper.

She is Mrs. Melissa Akers, who was appointed sheriff of Shannon county by Governor Hyde, when her husband died, leaving the office vacant.

She has bobbed blond hair, wears knickers and carries a vanity case filled with powder and rouge along with ammunition for her six-shooter. Demonstrating her gameness she has escorted five convicted criminals to the state penitentiary at Jefferson City and has made the usual routine arrests of a small town sheriff.

As a sideline, she is an auctioneer. She has cried more than one hundred sales since becoming sheriff, which swelled the Akers family coffers more than $3,500.

In one week recently she drove 800 miles serving legal papers.

RIGHTEOUSNESS THEME OF PLAY

'Fifth Horseman' Is Romance With Moral

A story of life in the American home today, built upon facts and woven into a tense and thrilling melodrama is used by the producers of the picture, "The Fifth Horseman," which will play at the Pearce theater Tuesday through Saturday.

In this production "The Fifth Horseman" expresses "righteousness" following the filming of the famous "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," representing death, famine, pestilence, and war. It demonstrates that through righteousness the four horsemen may be driven from the earth and complete happiness set up.

While "The Fifth Horseman" is announced as a picture with a moral, there is woven into it stirring pathos, love interest and action.

NEW O'NEIL TRAGEDY IS WELL RECEIVED

Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms," at the Provincetown Players Little theater in Greenwich Village, ran the gamut of the seduction of a youth by his stepmother and their hanging for the murder of the baby that ensued, and pleased its audience, who were all subscribers.

We spend too much for fun and have so little of it.

CITIZENS WANT HIM RETAINED

Ask That Rev. Hassler Be Left at Pt. Neches

PORT NECHES, Nov. 15.—Tribute was paid to Rev. W. E. Hassler, for two years pastor of the First Methodist church here, this week when a committee with indorsements from members of his own and other churches, and many from no church at all, called upon the presiding elder of this district asking the pastor be returned to his charge for another year.

Rev. Mr. Hassler while here has been active in every phase of community work, serving in many capacities with the Parent-Teachers' association, Chamber of Commerce and other organizations. One of his main contributions to the community life here has been the Vocational Bible school which he conducts six weeks in the summer.

This school has created national comment and has been means of allowing manual training and domestic art students to keep up their work during the summer. Some exhibits of work done at the school are entered this year at the South Texas Fair now in progress at Beaumont.

Rev. Mr. Hassler leaves Sunday for the annual conference and it appears the unanimous wish of the citizenship that the conference will see fit to return him to Port Neches.

1000 Children to Get Christmas Tree Treat

PORT NECHES, Nov. 15.—A community Christmas tree for which an attendance of 1000 school children is being planned is now underway by the Parent-Teachers' association. Under the leadership of the president, Mrs. Homer Andrus, it is planning a program and arranging for presents of candies and fruits to be given the kiddies.

A subscription list is being circulated and all business houses represented in Port Arthur and interested individuals are being asked to subscribe to the fund.

Following the Christmas tree program, "Father's Night" will be observed by the association with a banquet honoring all male parents of Port Neches school children.

HUNTING AND FISHING PARTIES IN VOGUE

PORT NECHES, Nov. 15.—Hunting and fishing is the order of the day. A number of outing parties left Friday afternoon for different recreation grounds for the week-end. One party composed of A. L. Brooks, W. E. Parsons, Hub Smith and Martin Waggoner left for Sweet Lake, La., Friday afternoon.

Sidewalk Question Coming Before C. of C.

PORT NECHES, Nov. 15.—Question of a sidewalk leading west of the school building through both sections of the city which has been an unwieldy one for disposal for several years is expected to be brought to a definite conclusion at the regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce this week.

The sidewalk must be built by popular subscription, those behind the movement say, as there is no way of voting a bond issue for such a project in an incorporated city.

Most of the property owners on the line where the sidewalk is to be built are understood to have given right-of-way concessions.

School children coming out in large numbers when traffic is heavy increases the danger of their getting run down by cars because they must share the streets with the vehicles.

SCHOOL CHILDREN GET TEN-DAY HOLIDAY

PORT NECHES, Nov. 15.—Children of the Port Neches public schools will enjoy Thanksgiving holidays from Wednesday afternoon until the next Monday morning, Superintendent J. H. Hicks announces.

The Friday holiday is allowed with Thanksgiving day because the superintendent and several teachers will attend the State Teachers' meeting, which will be in annual session at San Antonio, Nov. 27-29.

CHRISTMAS VACATION WILL LAST 17 DAYS

PORT NECHES, Nov. 15.—Christmas holidays for the Port Neches schools will last 17 days, commencing afternoon of Friday, December 12, and continuing until Monday, Dec. 29, Superintendent J. H. Hicks stated Friday.

The early Christmas season is occasioned because the county teachers' institute will be held the week of Dec. 12 to 19.

Judge Roy granted the divorce on the plea of cruel treatment.

'Fighting Parson's' Church Collapses

LEADVILLE, Colo., Nov. 15.—The tabernacle of the "fighting parson" oldest and most historic house of worship in Colorado's mining district, has just been razed, long after the parson and his two-fisted, two gun converts had departed to take up their work elsewhere—the parson in another world.

With collapse of the dilapidated wooden structure, memories of the church's erection and dedication have come to life. Old miners love to live over the day when Thomas Uzzell, the parson, went with a small crew of men to lay the foundation for the tabernacle.

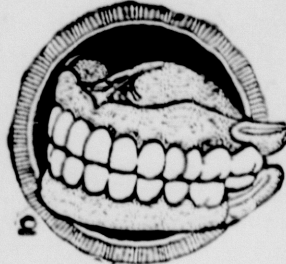

Three miners, loath to have the "serenity" of the gambling halls and saloons disturbed on Sundays, had "jumped" his claim. Uzzell beseeched them to leave—to no avail. Then, laying aside his coat and vest, the parson routed them by force and the soil on which his edifice was to rest was baptized in blood.

Informal Arbitration Court for Motorists Given Trial In Chicago To Adjust Accidents

PLACE BLAME WITHOUT LAW

Plan Is Not to Be Part of Regular System

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Chicago is going to try out a new idea—an "informal" arbitration court for motorists.

It won't be part of the regular city and county court system. It is to be operated by the Chicago club of the American Automobile Association.

The court will be held in a special room, built for that purpose, in the new club house of the Chicago Motor Club.

It will be presided over by impartial judges and will be open to all motorists, regardless of whether they are members of the club.

The idea is to settle by arbitration disputes arising from automobile accidents.

Charles M. Hayes, Chicago Motor Club president, tells what the unique court is expected to accomplish:

"It will save motorists thousands of dollars every year in time and legal fees that are spent now in regular court procedure.

"It will relieve the present congested condition of the regular courts, and will thus be a benefit to the public.

"It will promote harmony between motorists—for very few men remain friends after they have been opponents in a real legal battle."

National officers of the A. A. A. are highly optimistic of the arbitration court's success.

They do not claim it will settle many large suits. But they contend it will clean up a multitude of small ones—differences arising out of broken fenders, jammed headlights, and other minor accidents.

OLDS SPECIALTY TO BE COACHES

Closed Models In Demand Officials Find

Eighty per cent of the entire production of the Olds Motor works during the coming three months—November, December and January—will be coach models, according to the schedule just adopted by factory officials. This is the first time in the history of Oldsmobile that nearly all efforts have been concentrated on a closed body model and is truly indicative of the demand of the public for comfortable transportation.

Facilities at the Fisher Body corporation plant, which adjoins and is connected with the shops of the Olds Motor works at Lansing, Mich., are being rapidly expanded to permit this greatly increased production of coaches. This expansion will enable the plant to turn out more than twice as many coach bodies per day as it has been producing.

The Oldsmobile coach was announced a little over a month ago—on September 28, to be exact. Latest available figures up to and including October 18—a period of 20 days—show that 1540 cars of this type were produced. This was about one-half the entire production of closed cars for the same period.

"Without question the five passenger coach design is rapidly increasing the favor in which closed models are held," said Guy H. Peasley, sales manager for Oldsmobile. "They are converting even the most rabid fresh air devotee to the advantages they have over the touring and roadster models. The two large glass windows that form practically the entire side of the coach, and which lower or raise in a jiffy, combined with the new Fisher one-piece ventilating windshield, make the coach as airy as an open car. At the same time it affords complete and instant protection against sudden rain storms and inclement weather. These advancements in the coachmaker's craft are tending to make the closed car the first choice of the buyer in most sections of the country."

ELIMINATE SCRATCHES

Scratches on a finely polished automobile can be eliminated by applying several coats of thin shellac under the scratch has been completely filled. When the last coat has dried, it should be rubbed with crocus cloth and a little olive oil. A rubdown with a good body polish will render the touch-up, inconspicuous and restore the surface to its original appearance.

ROOM FOR MORE CARS

Tire companies in the United States are prepared for a big output to supply a registration of 20,000,000 cars a year, according to tire manufacturers. These would require about 65,000,000 tires a year, they say.

TRAFFIC LAWS TOO NUMEROUS

Auto Chamber Head Expresses Opinion

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 15.—There are too many traffic laws.

This is the belief expressed by C. C. Hanch, vice president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, in an address here.

"American cities are placing the chief burden of traffic on their already overworked police forces," said Hanch, "instead of making studies of transportation needs and planning the routing of traffic and improvements on the basis of these studies."

"Every large city needs a traffic commission to study its railroad, electric and motor vehicle facilities and to map out plans of operation on a basis of maximum efficiency and service."

"The opening up of a few streets in many cities and the economic routing of commercial vehicle traffic will be helpful both to shipper and public."

"Speed is a relative matter, depending upon the time of day, the place, and the conditions of road and weather. What we need most is not the clamping down of an arbitrary speed law, but the quick and safe dispatching of traffic at rates of speed suitable to the conditions."

"We need more parking instead of more 'no parking.' Facilities at cost should be provided for the all-day parker, and everyone should be permitted to leave his machine at a given place long enough to attend to reasonable errands. Constructive rather than repressive traffic programs should be every city's goal."

MARRIAGE HEALER OF AUTOMOBILE WOUNDS

PEERLO, Colo., Nov. 15.—Picking up the scattered fragments of two families disrupted by an automobile accident, a father and mother have united their families, and provided a home for the seven children orphaned by death of the father of one, and the mother of six.

Lewis S. Cole met death in a Pueblo irrigation ditch attempting to rescue his sister-in-law, Mrs. John D. Cole, and her baby. All were swirled to eternity in the black waters that had swallowed the car.

John Cole mourned the loss of his wife, daughter and brother; Mrs. Lewis Cole vainly attempted to support her five children. Grief and financial straits drew the two and their children together and love grew from companionship. Quietly they were recently married.

Three homes, in reality, have become one, for Mrs. Sarah Cole, mother of the drowned man, has been taken into the new dwelling, far from the scene of the triple tragedy.

Probing a woman's mind is about as simple as unscrambling an egg.

HOW TO STOP CAR

Do not jam on your brakes too suddenly. Begin to reduce your speed 50 feet or more from the stopping point and simply roll up and halt with a final and gentle application of the brakes. Always apply the brakes and then release them instead of putting them on and holding them there. Jamming on the brakes at high speed wears out the brake lining and loosens up the whole system.

PROSPECTS IN MEXICO

At least 500,000 autos are sure to be sold in Mexico once the highways are improved and there are better financing facilities for buying. This is the opinion of George F. Dauer, secretary of the foreign trade committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

Chevrolet Gets Oil Records Used In Economy Contest

It is expected that within 10 days, the Chevrolet Motor company will have complete records of the oil and gasoline consumption in every Chevrolet car that entered the 100-hour endurance and economy run conducted by nearly a thousand dealers through the country during October 4 to 11.

From these records, the average gasoline mileage per gallon and the number of miles per quart of oil will be computed, which will tell a most comprehensive story of gasoline mileage and oil consumption. The result will present a truthful, cross-section picture of the average mileage and oil consumption that may be expected from a Chevrolet any place in the country.

CHRYSLER SALES BOOM--BOOZ

Remarkable Growth Seen Over Entire Country

With production and sales in the month of October reaching 3,606 cars the Chrysler Motor corporation has not only broken all of the many monthly production records it has previously set, but has established a new high mark for the industry as well, according to information received by the Clarence Booz Auto company, Chrysler agents here.

Never before in history has a motor car manufacturer installed entirely new equipment, rounded out a manufacturing organization and reached a monthly sales record of more than 3,600 cars within 10 months after the first public introduction of the car, it is stated by J. E. Fields, vice president in charge of sales, according to Mr. Booz. "Fields also pointed out that this record production was all the more remarkable in view of the well-known fact that the Chrysler is built to the highest quality standards," Booz said. "Actually this record production was attained in eight months instead of 10 inasmuch as practically the first two months were consumed in organizing production for large quantities."

"In previous months the company has produced what was thought to be the capacity of the Chrysler plant but the experience gained by the expert Chrysler manufacturing organization during the past ten months equaled with additional equipment made possible the new high mark set in October."

OLDSMOBILE IN NEW NOVEL TEST

'Cowboy' Seeley Handcuffed to Wheel 5 Days

"Man has been conquered by the automobile," Philip Inman, Oldsmobile dealer, says. "Like the fictional Robots, the mechanical men who, in the stage play R. U. R. turned on and conquered the humans who devised them, the automobile has taken from man his world-old heritage of power over material things. In a recent contest, a trained athlete pitted his strength and endurance against the stamina of a motor car—and lost. For 120 hours he drove the car constantly, at the conclusion of which he had to be carried from the car, which was running as quietly and smoothly as when it started."

"The test was made by the De Luxe Automobile company, Oldsmobile distributors at St. Louis, Mo. A cowboy "daredevil," W. G. Seeley, was handcuffed to the steering wheel of an Oldsmobile and the hood of the car officially sealed. For five consecutive days and nights Seeley drove the car at speeds of from one to 69 miles an hour, making a total of 3,143 miles during the run, or an average of 26.6 miles an hour.

"At no time did the car come to a complete halt. When blocked by traffic and while taking on gasoline and oil, the car was driven backward and forward a few feet to keep it constantly in motion. The last few miles of the test were made at an average speed of two miles an hour in high gear while the driver was propped in his seat, semi-conscious and a trained nurse at his side. At all times during the 120 hours the car and driver were under the observation of newspaper representatives, police or automobile men."

Enough soft soap was used during the campaign to wash a coal mine as clean as a snowdrift.

Six Uses For Bus

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A. J. Brousseau, director of the National Chamber of Commerce, outlines the following profitable uses for motor buses when linked with electric railway operations:

1. In thin traffic regions, where business does not warrant investment in railway equipment.
2. In heavy traffic areas to handle local passengers.
3. In light traffic hours when costs of power station operation can be saved.
4. In developing new territory, as feeders to rail routes.
5. In city transportation, to meet public demand for bus service.
6. In interurban transportation, to meet public demand for bus service.
